EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE prospects are growing better for the election of a Republican governor.

PENNSYLVANIA'S coal product this year promises to be largely in excess of that of 1881.

THE dignity of the prize ring fraternity has been seriously injured by the fining of Champion Sullivan at Boston on the charge of drunkenness and using obscene language.

THE minority of the Republican party in Pennsylvania have no more right to dictate the retiring of Beaver than had the secessionists of 1861 to compel the resignation of Lincoln.

THE leading journals of Iowa that were chiefly responsible for the recent victory of the Prohibition liquor law in the election in that State now come boldly to the front and proclaim defiantly their intention to insist upon the resolute, vigorous, energetic and sweeping enforcement of that law by the total suppression of the liquor traffic, no matter what the consequences may be.

CAPTIVITY does not seem to have interfered with the digestive powers of the African king, Cetewayo. He has just landed in England with an escort of nine Zulus. It is said that he and his companions consumed eight hundred pounds of beef during the voyage between Cape Maderia and Plymouth. It is to be hoped that those Africans will not take a notion to visit the United States. A visit from such unrivaled beef eaters at this juncture would precipitate a meat famine.

"CAMERON favored the nomination of Beaver," cry the Independents and disappointed office seekers. Well, suppose he did. It is admitted that he could not have favored a purer or a better man, nor one who would grace the gubernatorial chair with greater dignity or more consummate ability. If Senator Cameron had favored a corrupt man, or one unfitted for the office, there would have been some reason in defeating him; but must one of the best men in the State be slaughtered simply because the Senator recognized his merits and qualifications for the place?

IT is now three weeks since Colonel McClure said that Hartranft and Huidekoper were to be fired out and replaced by two wicked Stalwarts. But Hartranft and Huidekoper are still in possession. It is now in order for the Colonel to tell us why those two men are allowed to hang on when he said they had to go as martyrs to a stalwart rule. We are wondering how the Colonel is going to manage himself should he take the stump in the present campaign. He is for Stewart and he is for Pattison. Now how can he speak for both or try to have both elected? The Colonel has a very pretty campaign on his hands, and his manoeuvers are interesting. He is managing the Independents and Cassidy keeping the Democrats well in hand ought to make the fight more than interesting.

McKee and Lytle.

Many of our readers have seen the letter of L. D. McKee, chairman of the Independent Republican committee, in answer to Dr. Lytle, of Philipsburg, but have not seen the letter of the Dr. which called it forth, the Press and Times of Philadelphia having refused to publish it. We give below the first two letters written by McKee to Lytle, and Lytle's reply, so that our readers may have an opportunity to see the true position the Dr. takes. The first letter was written July 7:

"True manhood and political independence will manifest themselves everywhere, even in a boss-ridden county like Centre. There are many men in your county who don't propose to follow the leadership of Grant-Arthur-Conkling-Guiteau-Cameron stalwarts, simply because a Centre county Grant man is placed on the machine ticket. The Garfield republicans are flocking to the support of our ticket all over the state. When you organize a club, I would suggest that you call it a Garfield club. Whether you had better organize now or wait a while, you can best judge. If no strength will be lost waiting, perhaps you had better wait a little while. In the meanwhile, please distribute the documents which we send you. D. J. H. Pierce of your place is with us. Very truly yours,

I. D. MCKEE, Chairman.

This was followed on the 13th of July by the following:

DEAR SIR: The enclosed communication will explain itself. We desire a full meeting of the independent republican state committee (with a representation from each county) on the 27th instant. Nearly every county has a member on our committee. Centre county has none. Your county must be represented, however, at the meeting in question. We ask that you attend the meeting on the 27th, as a temporary representative from Centre, or that you place the inclosed communications in the hands of some representative, reliable, stanch independent republican, who will positively attend in the same capacity. We must have some one here from Centre without fail, as we want a full attendance and wise counsels. I trust that you will see the necessity of complying with these suggestions herein contained, even at the cost of some personal inconvenience. Kindly write me within a day or two with reference hereto.

I remain yours very truly,

I. D. MCKEE, Chairman.

The Dr.'s reply exposes the traitors who are trying to involve all in a common ruin, merely because they cannot rule.

PHILIPSBURG, July 21. 1882.

Hon I. D. McKee, Chairman Independent Committee. DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of your two letters of the 7th and 13th instants in regard to the independent republican movement.

I am so much astonished at the sentiment and disposition manifested in them that I am constrained to suggest to you wherein I think you mistake the temper of the independent-thinking republicans of this section.

You speak of a "boss ridden county like Centre" It is true we are "boss ridden" in Centre, but the bosses are all democrats. The republicans of this county have stood together and faced the enemy year in and year out, like a band of Spartan brothers.

I do not like the way you speak of the "Grant-Arthur-Conkling-Guiteau-Cameron stalwarts." To associate Guiteau's name with any gentleman is offensive, and used, as you have done it in the above instance, is really indiscreet, unworthy the leader of any reform, political or otherwise.

Then, too, I never thought it was a crime for an independent republican, or anybody else, to be a friend of Gen. Grant's. I remember a time when we were glad to follow him—it was when he was on his way to Appomattox.

To defeat a centralization of power in the party, to have principles and live up to them, to put down abuses, to give the masses of the party fair representation, should be the paramount object of all independent republicans, who are sincere in demanding reform. These ends cannot be accomplished by associating disrepectfully the name of Guiteau with some of the most splendid men of the nation; not by reflection upon the honor and manhood of General Beaver; not by making capital out of the name of the beloved Garfield as a claptrap for temporary increase of numbers or clubs.

These ends cannot be accomplished by ignoring or trampling upon the very principles for which true independent republicans are battling.

This leads me to say that I cannot accept your urgent invitation to represent Centre county at the meeting of the independent republican state committee on the 27th instant. The great complaint made against the 10th of May convention was that the delegates were not fairly representatives of the party. This may or may not have been the fact, but the independents assumed that it was, and the Philadelphia convention followed. Now, I ask you, as the spokesman for the independent organizatton, would it be honest in me to follow your advice, nay, your urgent request, and assume to represent the independent republicans of this county at the meeting on the 27th? But you go a step further than that; you, the chairman of the reform party, who assumes with us to be opposed to boss rule, presume to appoint a representative for this county; you describe him that he shall be a "reliable, stanch independent republican, who can positively attend;" and then you ask me to notify him of his appointment. Did you not stultify yourself? I am opposed also to this kind of business and you must appoint some other agent to notify your delegate from this county.

In my judgment the third proposition of the regular wing of the party should have been accepted Failing to do this, I am satisfied the management of the independent wing only desire to compass the defeat of the great republican party in Pennsylvania this fall. I cannot agree to this. I do not propose to aid in sacrificing the republican party in this state this fall simply for the benefit of the democracy. There must be a higher motive.

Very resp'y, your obedient servant

S. F. LYTLE.

Disgusted with McKee.

There is not only mourning in the Democratic circles over the blunder committed by McKee in his correspondence with Dr. Lytle, but the staid old North American, which has taken part in the Independent movement, is disgusted with the blackguardism of its state chairman, and denounces him in the following withering but deserving language:

"That gentleman (McKee) has demonstrated his unfitness to manage a campaign for any considerable party of intelligent men. If a party could be marshalled by epithets and directed by catchwords and abusive language, we do not question Mr. McKee's ability to run a machine for political purposes. His late letter demonstrates so much.

"The temptation to cut behind is too strong for the average driver to resist. But it is as true now as ever that hard words butter no parsnips. Unless the Independents desire a short life and a bustling one, they will have to elevate their literature considerably. The intelligent masses do not burrow in the mud. Nor are they less able to distinguish argument from trash and nonsense than the state committees of all the parties taken as a representative body. It will not make converts to the Independent movement to link the names of the President and General Grant with traitors and assassins. Whatever may be thought of such an outrage at headquarters, the gentlemen who are guilty of it may take it home to their understanding that the people are not yet educated down to such things. We hope they may never be so unfortunate as to relish disgusting balderdash. If we recollect aright, Benedict Arnold betrayed his country, just as Booth and Guiteau slew the men whom the American people had chosen to honor and whom the people loved. We do not recollect that either the President or General Grant ever acted in either role. We had supposed that they were at one period in our history engaged in reducing traitors and assassins to subjection. Certainly the Independent movement is not officered by men who rank higher as patriots than Gen'l Grant. We have no mind to remain silent while any citizen of Philadelphia repeats the outrage perpetrated by Duane upon George Washington. The language to which we have adverted might be read in a column parallel with that employed by Duane in speaking of Washington. It was, and must remain, a disgrace to Philadelphia that such language was applied to a man of whose unselfish devotion to the country there has never, within eighty years, been any question. Duane is forgotten, while the memory of Washington is green and fragrant."

"MARYLAND, my Maryland!" let us all sing.

Will Senator Wallace Show his Hand?

The question that was upon everybody's lips immediately following the nomination of Mr. Pattison for Governor was: "What part will Senator Wallace take in the campaign?" All knew that Mr. Wallace had not been consulted in regard to the selection of a State ticket, and that for more than a year past the most studied efforts had been made by Sam Randall, Lewis C. Cassidy, Eckley B. Coxe and Wm. L. Scott to nominate the most positive anti-Wallace ticket that could possibly be chosen, and in that they were successful, for next to Chauncey Black, said to be the author of the violently abusive articles in the New York Sun reflecting on Mr. Wallace, the most out-spoken man in the State in condemnation of what he terms the Wallace methods of politics is Robt. E. Pattison.

And there is not a Democratic politician in the commonwealth, no matter how circumscribed his knowledge of politics may be, but is well aware that in the event of the election of Mr. Pattison the whole power of the Executive office will be exerted without stint or scruple to elevate to power those who have been endeavoring for years to retire Senator Wallace from political leadership.

With this end in view Mr. Pattison's campaign is being adroitly managed by Messrs. Randall, Cassidy, Bill McMullin and Sam Josephs. The old time leader of the bloody Fourth Ward gang—Alderman McMullin—is the acknowledged confidential friend of Sam Randall, and his duty is to watch every step in the progress of the campaign to see that the interests of Mr. Randall for President two years hence are promoted at every turn.

Mr. Joseph's interests in Mr. Pattison's election is two fold—Cassidy for Senator, and himself for Secretary of the Commonwealth; and with so great an interest at stake repeating, ballot box stuffing, personations and other Democratic appliances will be practiced to an extent never before witnessed in this country. The only thing that now worries Mr. Pattison and his managers is the fear that Mr. Wallace may show his hand in such a manner as to influence his large following throughout the State to become supremely indifferent to the election of candidates so hostile to Mr. Wallace as Mr. Pattison, Mr. Black and others on the ticket with them representing themselves to be, and whose friends are already charging treachery on the part of Mr. Wallace by representing that as counsel for the prosecution of the Knights of Labor in the coal regions for conspiracy he has already entered into an arrangement whereby the vote of the Knights of Labor is to be cast solidly for Beaver.

It is proper to state in this connection that some mysterious Democratic hand has planned a systematic prosecution of the Knights of Labor throughout the mining districts and in securing the services of Senator Wallace to prosecute these cases does it not look as though, either by accident or design, Mr. Wallace has been placed in a position in which he can more than get even with the coterie of would-be Democratic leaders who are bent on eliminating Mr. Wallace as a political power in this State?

THERE seems now to be no cloud—even of the most diminutive size—in the financial horizon, and the year is one full of promise to capitalist and laborer alike. There are large profits and handsome dividends in store for the former, and cheaper provisions, plenty of work and fair wages for the latter.

ADMIRAL NICHOLSON'S action in Egypt failed to plunge this country into war with England, and that's what some of our citizens don't like about it.

What the Republican Party has Done for Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania passed under Republican management in 1861. On the expiration of Gov. Hoyt's term on January 1, 1883, the Republican party will have ruled 22 years. Gov. Curtin was elected in October, 1860, and took the Governor's chair January, 1861.

The State debt in 1860 was	$37,964,602.02
The State debt in May, 1882	20,140,188.05
Total reduction under Republican Governors	$17,824,413.97

The Republican party in 1866 repealed the tax of three mills on real estate. The value of the real estate in Pennsylvania in 1880, was $1,545-914,868. A three mill tax for sixteen years amounts to $74,203,913, which has all been saved to our taxpayers.

In 1873 horses and cattle were exempt from the three mill tax. In 1880 the value of horses and cattle was $33,288,835. A three mill tax on this sum for nine years amounts to $898,798. By these two acts of Republican legislation the taxpayers were saved the enormous sums of:

On real estate	$74,203,913
On horses and cattle	898,798
Total of taxes saved to people in sixteen years	$75,102,711

Notwithstanding that the taxpayers of "the unfortunate State of Pennsylvania" have been relieved from the payment of seventy-five million of dollars in taxes which they were subjected to, as a legacy from Democratic policy, the State debt has been reduced nearly eighteen million of dollars.

The State paid the following extraordinary military expenses incident to the Rebellion	$9,513,001
Other damages and claims not included in the above figures, paid since 1865, averaging $50,000 a year	850,000
Total military expenses	$10,363,001

In addition to the payment, the State has expended on Soldier's Orphan Schools, $6,652,435.

It will be seen that the Republican management of the State while it has relieved the real estate and lands and horses and cattle of the farmer of over seventy-five millions of taxes, it has educated the soldiers' orphan children; paid over ten millions of military expenses incident to the Rebellion, reduced the State debt nearly eighteen millions of dollars. Yet Democratic organs would have the world believe we have such an 'unfortunate State,' that to relieve it, the people should elect a Democratic Governor this year. But to present in a nut-shell the above facts we recapitulate:

Military expenses	$10,363,001
Soldiers' orphans' schools	6,652,435
Reduction of State debt	17,824,413
Total	$34,839,849
Saved to taxpayers by repeal of tax laws	75,102,712
Grand total	$109,942,561

We doubt if the people who pay the taxes are prepared to turn the affairs of this State over to the Democratic party by the election of "Lew Cassidy's boy, Pattison."

POSTMASTER GENERAL HOWE, who was so well abused by the guerilla organs a few months ago, appears to be doing good work for the people. The books of the Post-Office Department have just been balanced for the first quarter of the present calendar year, ending on the 31st of March, and the result shows that the receipts exceed the expenditures by nearly one million of dollars. The total amount of revenue is nearly eleven millions, while the expenses only aggregate between nine and ten millions, leaving a surplus of nearly one million of dollars. This showing is an excellent one for the administration.

ONE of the annoying, and to a certain extent humiliating, results of this session's legislation in Congress has just cropped out. An intelligent young Chinaman who has been a resident for the requisite period in the United States was on Wednesday refused naturalization papers by Judge Wylie, at Washington, as the recent anti Chinese, anti-American bill absolutely bars any claim. It is not to be wondered at that the Celestials term the rest of the world "outer barbarians."

IN SPAIN it is the custom of every one who eats a fruit to dig a little hole and plant the seed, and the roads in that country are lined with trees, the fruits of which are free to all. Some one says: "The man has not lived in vain who plants a good tree in the right place."

THE firemen at a fire in Philadelphia came across several kegs in a closet which had nearly been reached by the flames. They were supposed to be empty, but one man took the precaution to examine them and found them full of powder. The men ran out, but they bravely carried the explosive along.

PROFESSOR BEAL says that a neighbor who was a poor cultivator had ripe tomatoes two weeks before some of his neighbors, simply because his soil was poor and had not been manured, while the neighbors had rich soil, which kept the plants growing with more luxuriance, with later ripening of the fruit.

A CELEBRATED French agriculturalist, especially noted for his success in fattening sheep, when urged to divulge his secret, replied: "Secret? I have none; it is only a question of fare. COL. PHILIPONON, the late commander of Peter Paul's Fort, who was accused of treating with undue leniency the Nihilist prisoners committed to his charge, and even of the participation of the Nihilist conspiracy, has been tried, found guilty, and sentenced to degradation from his military rank and exile to Siberia.

IN A NEW decision by the Missouri Court of Appeals, in the matter of the property owner's petition for injunction against a telegraph company, which had put up a pole opposite his premises, under a permit from the Board of Public Improvements, it was stated that the power of the Board to give such permits might be so limited as to exclude the erection of anything unsightly.

MIDHAT PASHA, who dwells in banishment at Taiffa, occupies a residence which served at one time as the office of the ex-Cherif of Mecca. He is not permitted to leave the house for an hour, though he is permitted to move about freely through it. He is allowed to read the Koran and other religious books printed in Turkish. He is not allowed to write letters. He has obtained permission to explain the Koran to a certain number of children. He who was the Grand Vizier of the Porte thus amuses himself by teaching.

A STATUE in clay of Oliver Cromwell has just been placed in the private corridor behind the House of Lords, with what object no one seems to know. It is all the more surprising that there is no statue of the Protector in London, as his features might be exactly reproduced. At Mr. Wilkinson's, near Sevenoaks, is Oliver's head. It is supposed to have been blown down from the top of Westminster Hall, where it had been placed, picked up, and sold to an ancestor of Mr. Wilkinson. The head has been embalmed, and the hair and features are in excellent preservation. There is the hole in the skull made by the pike on which it was impaled, also a hole where a large wart has been cut out.

AT PERIVALE.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DOROTHY."

I.

Oh, the grave and gloomy quiet at the closing of the day!
When the sun has long gone down,
Not in splendors of his own,
But behind a veil of vapor vaguely vanishing away;
With a wreath of filmy cloud,
Creased and wrinkled, to enshroud
All the glow that he should give us at the closing of the day.

II.

Oh, the stern and stolid quiet at the closing of the day!
When the purple furrows gleam
Cold and steely, and the team
Loiters homeward, and the hawthorn blooms in blood-drops, not in May;
When the harvest months are done,
And the autumn rains begun,
And the black earth reeks with odors at the closing of the day.

III.

Oh, the dim and solemn quiet at the closing of the day!
When the leaves are dropping slow,
And the wet birds come and go
Through the hedges, and white winter is already on its way;
When the smoke of smouldering tares,
Loosely borne in lagging airs,
Frets the nostrils with its savor at the closing of the day.

IV.

Oh, the grim and ghostly quiet at the closing of the day!
When the cattle cease to move,
And the trees stand close, above,
And the mounds about the churchyard lie unshadowed in the gray!
When the soul that dwells alone,
Finds a sadness like its own
In the hear of mother nature at the closing of the day.

IN SUMMER DAYS.

In summer days, when birds were trilling,
I plucked a rose that was fair to view;
Its beautiful tint my heart was thrilling,
And fragrance floated the woodland through.

The summer waned, and the autumn dreary
Came, with its sleet and deadly chill;
I sighed with dread, for my heart was weary;
Alas! that the winds my rose should kill

But springtime came, with its blooms and thrushes,
And lo! a bud that was fair to see
Sprang from the mold, and its dainty blushes
Whispered a message of joy to me.

Oh, never again, when frost is flinging
A withering mantle across the flowers,
Will tear drops fall, for magical singing
Sweetly will whisper of summer-time hours.

—Little drops of water, from the rubber hose,
Hit the passing bummer on his ruby nose.

And in his mind there riseth vague memory of the past,
"I think I've known this fluid!"—he catcheth on at last:

"Long years ago my mother used such stuff as this
To bathe me in the mornings, then finished with a kiss;

And it seems to me I drank it in my early youth;
Yet I ain't quite certain, and that's the solid truth!"

And the poor old bummer, mumbling as he goes,
Wipes the long-forgotten fluid from his ruby nose.

—You ask me why I don't marry a girl
Whose money'd keep me out of the whirl
Of a life of toil. Because—I'll confide—
I greatly prefer to be not the bride,
But the husband of the girl I marry.
In marriage, you know, my dear Harry,
The wife's subjection's the surest way—
The only, in fact, some people would say—
For husband and wife that state to attain
Where equal they are will equal remain.

Our Story Teller.

Jack and Tom.

When Mrs. Hudson's little baby was born all the neighbors were very sorry for her—left in that cold and cruel way, with a child to bring up!

But Mrs. Hudson, a fine-looking young woman of six-and-twenty years, was, like the rest of them, able to take care of herself. She had a relative or two in a distant State, and she was known as reliable and honest. The letters she wrote brought her certain loans, with which she started a small shop for millinery and trimmings.

In time the store was enlarged, all the loans were paid, little Tom was kept at school as well dressed as any child there, and Mrs. Hudson went to church of a Sunday in a black silk dress that rustled with richness. No one envied her good fortune, especially as it did not make her proud.

She had a temper but she had too much policy to offend her customers.

Yes, she had a temper. That was what sent Jack away; she had boxed his ears. He had a habit of chewing tobacco, and had spit upon her clean scoured hearth, and there had been a quarrel, and the blow fell.

"I never lifted my hand against you, Sally," said Jack. "But this I'll say, I'll bear no more. You'll never see me again."

He had walked out of the house and had shipped on a vessel bound for China.

Sally had believed he only meant to frighten her and would come back. Six months afterward their baby came into the world, but Jack had never been heard of since.

She cried over it still in secret, for she had been very much in love with Jack and had thought him very fond of her. And she was proud of Tom, and fonder of him for looking like his father. She scolded him when he needed scolding, but his home was happy for all that. Only when he grew old enough to leave school did any serious conflict of opinion take place between the boy and his mother. It was on a Saturday night, after the shutters were put up that it began.

"The business is so big now, Tom," said Mrs. Hudson, "that it will take us both. I'll teach you all about it at once, and when you are twenty-one I'll take you regularly into partnership. It will be yours after me and I've no doubt," said the mother, with a forecast of maternal jealousy in her eye, "that some day your wife will be behind the cash desk there."

Tom, who was dutifully casting up his mother's weekly accounts for her, laid down his pen and looked at her.

"It's no use talking that way, mother," he said. "The shop will be yours, and not mine, to the end. I won't keep it. I don't mean to stand behind a counter. I don't call that man's work."

"My goodness, Tom, what notions have you got into your head?" cried Mrs. Hudson. "Man's work, indeed! Why, there's more men than women in stores."

"Mother," said Tom, "I won't go into business of this sort at all. I shall go to sea and get to be a captain in time, I hope. What I'd like is the navy, if I had a chance; but anyhow the sea."

"You couldn't be anything but a common sailor, Tom," said the poor woman. "Think of your education."

"Such as it is, I do," said Tom; "and very thankful I am for it, but a sailor's life is the life for me. No shop is; I know it."

"It's a store; it's a good business. I've made it what it is," cried Mrs. Hudson, "and you despise it."

"I don't. You're the smartest woman I know, mother," said Tom; "but I won't sell bonnets. It's absurd to think of it."

"Half of it is dry goods," sobbed Mrs. Hudson.

But the trouble had begun. It went with her to church on Sunday, after keeping her wide awake all night. Arguments began. The mother at last no longer implored; she asserted her authority. Tom was not of age and at last Tom was not so respectful as he should have been and there was a regular quarrel, and Mrs. Hudson boxed her son's ears.

The next morning she went down to her little dining room very early. The gray dawn was in the sky, but a shutter had been left open; "very carelessly," as she said to herself, and by the light that fell through it she saw a letter lying on the table.

The took it up. It had no postmark, but it was formally addressed to Mrs. Sarah Hudson.

"If it should be Jack come back after all," she thought and tore it open. Within on a sheet of paper were these words:

"Mother, I'm off. I won't have my ears boxed; I won't be treated like a child. I shall ship at once. Home has grown to hot to hold me.

TOM."

The poor woman turned giddy and staggered to a seat, and hid her face for a while.

A little while after this, the servant girl, Susan, came, slowly down the stairs, tying her apron as she came, saw to her horror the neat figure of her mistress, in its trim black cashmere, lying prone upon the floor. She held a letter crushed in her hand, and was quite insensible.

Tom was a sailor, at least on the way to be one. He had shipped as one of the crew of an ocean steamer, and for the time he slept in the crowded room of a sailor's boarding house.

It was well filled with little cots, and it was close, and not too clean. Some of the men were intoxicated, some were talking to each other in the dark, others swearing at them for disturbing them at that hour. It was two o'clock. Tom had been in New York four days, and his life had not been a pleasant one.

Now as he lay in the dark and thought, the boy of sixteen years grew soft-hearted, and his pillow was wet with tears.

"Young chap," said a voice at his ear.

"Well?" said Tom, starting, "do you mean me?"

"Yes," said the voice. And a big man, whom he had noticed in the next cot, rose and sat down on the edge of his bed. "I've been watching you for a couple of days, and I see as there's something on your mind. If freeing it would help you, why, I'm old enough to be your father, and I feel a kind of hankering to know more of you. You look like a little brother o' mine that died when he was a little chap like you. Don't mind me. I've done it myself. You're crying."

"It isn't like a man, I know," said Tom, who had never been alone in the world before. I'm ashamed of it. But, you see, I ran away from mother. She's been good to me—too good; but she wanted me to go into the rag shop—dry goods, they call it—and I didn't like the idea, and something happened that made me angry, and here I am. I'm thinking of poor mother. I—I'm sorry now. I—but it's no use."

"You can write to her, penitent-like," said the man.

"But I won't be there, you see. She'll miss me at meals and at night. I think I've been wrong. Anyhow, it's rough on poor mother, so good as she's been to me."

"We're apt to be rough to the women that love us," said the man, speaking softly in the dark. "What's your name, lad?"

"Tom Hudson," said the boy.

The sailor gave a start.

"You didn't speak of your father," said he. "Is your mother a widow?"

Despite himself, the boy began to weep again.

"Hang it. That's the worst of it," he said. "My father—and a precious scoundrel he must have been—ran off and left my mother before I was born. She's the smartest woman that ever lived. She's kept us both and made money. A lady, mother is, and a good woman. I take after my confounded father, I expect, to leave her, after all, like that."

"Your father's name was Jack, I guess," said the sailor. He lived at a place called Wharf Town."

"Yes, did you know him?" asked Tom.

"Knew him well," said the man. A darned fool he was to leave your mother. And she hasn't married?"

"She says she never would, because she might not be a widow," said Tom. "Law gives her the right, but she wouldn't take it. She's had offers—good ones—but I'm proud to say she's very strict about duty."

"But look here, lad, don't tell me there warn't any particular reason for your going off as you did. Didn't something happen of a particular nature! Warn't nothing said or done more than usual?"

"Well, mother boxed my ears," said Tom.

"I thought so," said the sailor. "Look here she boxed your father's before he cut his stick. There's that excuse for him. However—wouldn't you like to go home to your mother again, and at least leave home fair and square and decent?"

"Ah, it's too late, now," said Tom. "Too late."

"No, lad," said the man, taking his hand in his. "No lad, not too late. You're under age, and your father can break your agreement with any captain. I'm your father, Tom. I'm Jack Hudson. I didn't know you were on the face of the earth, Tom; and I'd have gone back to Sally long ago only what I had done set her free, and I was afraid she'd take the advantage the law gives her and marry, and I'd only upset everything.

"You'll go back to your mother, Tom. And I'm going too. If she wants me to stay I'll stay; if not I'll be off again. I don't deserve forgiveness."

"No, neither of us do," said Tom. "Neither of us."

Susan stood behind the counter of the store. Since her son's departure Mrs. Hudson had not showed her face. She was heart-broken; she sat with her head on her hands, and refused to see every one. Susan told all the story to the customers, who sympathized and were indignant. Such a mother—such a woman to be so used!

"He's an ungrateful wretch!" said one matron, as she walked away with the piece of tape which had been her excuse for coming in. "Tom Hudson is an ungrateful wretch."

"So he is, Mrs. Morley," said a voice.

And she turned and saw Tom standing in the door—Tom and a sailor of some five-and-forty years, burly and broad-shouldered, but a handsome fellow, too.

"I meant it, Tom," she said, looked at the sailor, turned pale, and ran away shivering.

"Was it a ghost," she said to herself, "or am I crazy?"

Meanwhile a shriek from Susan had brought Mrs. Hudson into the store. She stood all pale with grief and illness, and with her usual neat dress disordered, and looked at her son. Shen she opened her arms. Tom thought it was to take him in them and rushed toward her, but she passed him and threw them around his father's neck.

"Jack! Jack!" she cried. "I knew you'd come back at last. I knew you'd never leave your Sally for good and all—never, never, never!"

Tom goes to sea now. He is second mate already, and he loves the life as most sailors do. It is Jack who stays home and is partner in the business.

"He is a great deal more trouble than he is good, bless him," says his wife Sally, "but he doesn't know it, and I sha'n't tell him."

Tom comes home very often, but he is not his mother's first object in life any more. Jack is that.—Mary Kyle Dallas.

She Could not Back.

"Back, I say!"

The silvered foam of the sea was plashing in rhythmic cadence on the white sands of the beach, while here and there a fleck of wavering light from the signal buoy on Sardine Shoals—that dreaded spot beneath whose treacherous waves so many goodly ships freighted with precious burdens from far Cathay and Muskegon had disppeared forever—brought into bold relief against the western sky Girofle McClosky's off foot as she stood by Bertram Perkins' side that soft June evening.

"You do not love me," said the girl, speaking slowly, "or you could not speak so cruelly. On this beautiful night, when the hills are suffused with amber haze, through which the stars glow and throb in silent splendor, we should think of naught but love—pure, passionless love, that will bind our hearts together in a chain whose every link shall be a kiss; whose every fold a sweet caress."

For an instant the man did not reply. Then the girl stretched forth to him her bare white arms that glistened like marble in the growing dusk, but he heeded them not.

"Will you not speak to me, sweetheart?" she said with an infinite pathos in the words.

No answer came. Again the outstretched arms pleaded mutely and with pitiful eloquence for the joy that was never to be. Looking at her with a haughty, almost Vice President Davis expression on his face, Bertram again said: "Back I say."

With a desparing gleam in her darksome eyes, Girofle turned away and began to sob as if her corset would break. "God help me," she said, in despairing accents, "I cannot back."

"Why not?" asked Bertram.

"Because," was the reply, in tear-stained tones, "my polonaise is too eternally tight."

On Permanent Organization.—T. J. Taylor, Unionville; Dr. S. G. Gutelius, Millheim; James Watt, Ferguson; Mrs. Jno. P. Harris, Bellefonte; Mrs. Mary A. Way, Half Moon.

On Constitution.—Rev. John Tomlinson, Aaronsburg; J. B. Newcomer, Burnside; W. L. Wilson, Half Moon.

On Resolution.—Gen. Wm. H. Blair, Bellefonte; Isaac Underwood, Gregg; Rev. W. A. Carver, Snow Shoe; Mrs. E. M. Blanchard, Bellefonte; Geo. L. Gray, Patton.

While the foregoing committees were preparing their reports, short addresses were made by a number of delegates, as to the objects and aims of the convention which became quite animated at times. When the committee on constitution reported, their report was, on motion, adopted as read, and will be published hereafter. The committee on resolution then reported the following as the sense of the convention, viz:

WHEREAS, That after a fair and impartial trial for two hundred years in Pennsylvania the system of licensing the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors for drinking purposes has absolutely failed as a preventitive against drunkenness, degradation, debauchery, pauperism and crime.

Resolved, That this license system neither confers nor confirms any natural right, but is solely a privilege granted for special reasons and for a specific time. In abrogation would destroy no right, nor in any proper sense contravene personal liberty, nor be unjust to any one now enjoying its special benefits. The public welfare is a supreme law.

Resolved, That we as advocates of the cause of temperance deem it necessary that other and more effective means be used to overcome the great evils that flow from the license system.

Resolved, That we hail with rejoicing the glorious news from Iowa, announcing the overthrow of the rum power and the signal triumph of constitutional prohibition in that great State by over 20,000 majority.

Resolved, That we recognize with devout gratitude to God the manifest increase of healthful temperance sentiment in all this land, and the simultaneous movement in the various States of the Union toward the adoption of constitutional prohibitory amendments.

Resolved, That free from partisan spirit, we nevertheless regard the evil of intemperance as so gigantic as to believe its suppression to be the leading issue now before the people.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the people of our State should have the right to say by their ballots whether the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors shall be continued or abolished, except for medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes; and to this end we urge all people, without distinction of sex, race, party or denomination, to give their efforts and influence in behalf of constitutional prohibition in Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That this convention hereby urge and direct the officers and executive committee of the county association, this day organized, to proceed at the earliest practicable moment to complete the organization of the county, so that every borough and township may be put in active working order in the interest of constitutional prohibition.

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are due, and are hereby tendered to the citizens of Bellefonte, for their presence with us, and hospitality on this occasion; to the united church choirs for their able and entertaining assistance; and to Mr. W. D. Blackburn, for his untiring zeal in the work of organization throughout the county.

Resolved, That the proceedings of the convention be furnished all the county papers for publication.

The discussion of which became quite warm and animated at times, and on motion further consideration of the same was postponed until the evening session, and the committee on permanent organization being ready reported the following, viz:

President, Dr. T. R. Hayes, Bellefonte; Vice President. Hon. John Diven, Hublersburg, C. Back, Unionville; Hon. W. A. Murray, Harris; Prof. C. B. Sanford, Philipsburg; Hon. J. P. Gephart, Millheim; Secretary, H. Y. Stitzer, Bellefonte; Assistant Secretary, J. Witmer Wolf, Centre Hall; Treasurer, Charles Cook, Bellefonte.

Executive Committee.—Bellefonte, James Summerville, W. W. Isaac Mitchell; Philipsburg, J. H. Mattern Milesburg, L. T. Eddy; Unionville, Henry Iddings; Howard, John W. Smith; Millheim, Jacob Eisenhuth; Burnside, T. A. Boak; Boggs, Austin Curtin; Benner, C. Dale; Curtin; College, Prof. John Hamilton; Ferguson, George Eckel; Half Moon, John A. Hunter; Harris, Dr. J. F. Woods; Haines, Thomas Yearick; Huston, J. W. Stewart; Howard, J. N. Hall, Liberty, Samuel Glossner; Marion, Isaac Frain; Miles, Samuel Cramley; Patton, P. B. Waddle; Potter, Col. Josiah Neff; Penn, Christ. Alexander; Spring, John M. Furey; Snow Shoe, Rev. W. A. Carver; Worth, John G. Jones.

After reading the foregoing report, convention adjourned to meet in the evening at 7.30 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

After singing and prayer, the report on permanent organization was adopted when discussion on the resolutions was resumed in which Revs. Penepacker, Laurie, Furst, Dr. L. G. Gutelius and others participated, and after quite an animated discussion the convention adopted the report as presented by the committee, without amendment or addition. This ended the work of the convention for the present. Adjourned to meet at the call of the executive committee.

A. J ORNDOPF, Secretary.

General Beaver.

James A. Beaver entered the army of the United States as a Lieutenant under the call for three months men, on the 18th of April, 1861—the day the Schuylkill county "First Defenders" were hooted at and stoned in the streets of Baltimore, barely escaping the murderous fury of the mob. He got no farther than Harrisburg on that day, but shortly afterward proceeded with his regiment to Washington. At the expiration of his three-months's term he enlisted for the war, and his gallantry and efficiency soon marked him for promotion which was rapid and distinguished. During the period subsequent to his third enlistment, after at the urgent solicitation of Governor Curtin and the company commanders of the new regiment he had reluctantly resigned the Lieutenant Colonelcy of the 45th regiment to assume the command of the 148th, we have the subjoined distinguished indorsement of his gallantry, given by Col. Frank Burr, the biographer of Gen. Beaver.

GOVERNOR'S ISLAND, N. Y., May 9, '82.

MY DEAR SIR: In reply to your note of the 7th inst., I have to state that General James A. Beaver joined the First division of the Second army corps (then commanded by me) with his regiment, the 148th Pennsylvania volunteers, just after the battle of Fredericksburg, December, 1862, and served constantly under my command in the Second corps (save when absent, from wound received in battle) until the fall of 1864. During that period he was engaged in some of the most important campaigns and battles of the army of the Potomac, and took a conspicuous and distinguished part in many of them.

I considered him one of the most intrepid, intelligent and efficient young officers in our service during the war, and on several occasions mentioned him in my official reports for valuable services and distinguished bravery. He was wounded at "Chancellorsville," again while gallantly leading his fine regiment and brigade in an assault upon the enemy's works at Petersburg, Va., June 16, 1864, and at "Ream,s station," August 25, 1864. On this latter occasion he had just joined his regiment, on the battle-field, and taken command of the brigade to which it belonged, after an absence caused by former wounds, when he was struck by a musket ball which shattered his thigh and disabled him for life by the loss of a leg. He was brevetted Brigadier General for meritorious and distinguished conduct, and for valuable services, especially at "Cold Harbor," Va., where he commanded a brigade.

I am very truly yours,

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK.

All Sorts.

It is a good rule to walk fast until you get on solid ground—then to stand fast.

Never strike a man when he is down. A down man can get up pretty quick.

What we charitably forgive will be recompensed as well as what we charitably give.

Idleness is hard work for those who are not used to it, and dull work for those who are.

The silence that accepts merit as the most natural thing in the world is the highest applause.

"How clumsy you are!" said the mistress at the table, as the waiter spilt the sauce over a guest's rich dress, there won't be sauce enough to go around now."

"Ma, what's red mullets?" he asked. "Red mullets," repeated ma, "oh, it's them fellows as play polo in red hats down ter Newport, yes, them's red mullets."

The editor of the Hartford Courant says: "We catch about 6,885,000 pounds of food fish a year." This is the biggest fish story we have encountered this season.

"Is your pa ailin' yet?" asked a sympathetic neighbor of his friend's little son. Son replies: "Ailein'? Well, I should smile, if he don't just pour it into him by the gallon."

Sporting item: "Judgment!" said the preacher, seriously, from pulpit, as he concluded a telling point in his sermon, "Judgment!" and a small boy in the gallery near the organ loft squeaked, "Out first!" The base-ball fever is spreading.

Always fashionable: The toothpick boot is going out of fashion, 'tis said. But the broad, easy swinging boot worn by vigorous men of about fifty, with marriageable daughters, will never go out of fashion, young man, never. Keep out of its reach.

Without earnestness no man is ever great or does really great things. He may be the cleverest of men, he may be brilliant, entertaining, popular; but if he has not earnestness, he will want weight. No soul-moving picture was ever painted that had not in it depth of shadow.

An Austin teacher was explaining fractions to a rather dull boy. "Now, suppose you and your little sister were under a tree, and you found a peach, and you wanted her to have as much as you, how would you go about it?" "Shake down another peach out of the tree, and give her the littlest one."

A wicked boy got into a fight with his uncle, and biting off his nose swallowed it. He was brought before the police court, his uncle appearing against him. "This is your nephew, is he?' asked the magistrate. "I am sorry to say he is." "I think I detect some resemblance," said the judge. "Yes," replied the uncle, mournfully, "he has my nose."

Patience rewarded: Charley Smallface has again left his memorandum book on the centre-table. Picking it up this morning we read: "My father says: 'All things come to him who will but wait.' I heard that big woman ma hates tell him that one day, so I don't think it is original with him." Guess the memorandum book had better be destroyed.

Must hear both sides: An artful juryman, addressing the clerk of the court while the latter was administering the oath, said: "Speak up; I cannot hear what you say." "Stop," said Baron Alderson from the bench. "Are you deaf?" "Yes, my Lord, of one ear." "Then you may leave the box, for it is necessary that jurymen should hear both sides."

At the hotel: She had ordered nothing but vegetables and was eating of them vigorously, when a little old lady seated next to her—one of those busybodies ever anxious to be pleasant—smiled and interrogatively said "Vegetarian?" "No," said the other in quick response, "Unitarian; I'm from Boston—are you?" One of those grand old Beethooven laughs without words went round the table.

Why she was cool: "Talk about your ice machines," said a New Haven woman to her neighbor over the fence, "why, if Mrs. Robinson, round the corner, didn't treat me cool enough to freeze ice-cream this morning." "Why, what did she say?" "Say? She didn't say anything, and that's just what's the matter, and after I had taken pains to send her word that she was an impudent hussy." Aren't women curious critters?

Patrick Dugan, of Harwinton, Conn., who killed his father, has been bound over in the sum of $400. The judge had a great mind at one time to make it $460. Tell ye wat, naow, when a man daown in Connecticut goes'n kills his father, 'y gol, they make him smart for it. 'Tain't like ez ef 'twas out west naow, wher they don't hev no regard for human life. Parson Goodbee says ef he'd a ben on the bench he'd a made his bail $50, he wouldn't cared wat folks said.

"D' yer want to buy any greens this mornin'?" inquired a tatterdemalon at the back door of a New Haven mansion. "No, you little scamp; you picked those greens right in my own yard, and now you have the impudence to ask me to buy them" "Yes'm; I save yer the trouble o' pickin' on 'em, an' I naturally comes to you to sell 'em." "The idea—" "Is a good one, ma'am. Would yer want the neighbors to brag o' eatin greens wat's been picked outen your yard?" It was a knock down argument and sold the greens.

The Pretzel.

This delicious fruit grows best in the shade, the shade of a beer garden preferred. It is ripe at birth, and is ready to eat as soon as picked. In north Germany, where the benighted people do not know any better, the pretzel is called a 'kringle.' This is enough to spoil the pretzel, only that is impossible.

The pretzel is always planted on free lunch counters. There is more nutrition in a barrel of sawdust than there is in a clothesbasket of pretzels. But then the pretzel is much the dryer of the two. The genuine pretzel has a heart like a marble yard, and the hide is varnished to keep it dry. It is varnished with hot lye, and sprinkled with anniseed to give it tone.

Before it assumes the expression so familiar to the lovers of this perennial fruit, the pretzel is about the size of a garter snake. After it is tied up in that intricate knot which makes the eater wonder where to take the first bite no man can guess at its length. Enough is known, however, to warrant scientific authorities in saying that if a man should swallow a pretzel whole, and it should suddenly straighten out in him, it would kill him in a minute. It is not possible, however, for a man to eat a pretzel whole. You can eat all the rest of it, but while there is more hole than pretzel to begin with, yet the more you eat the pretzel the more hole there is left.

The pretzel is eaten. Why, nobody seems to understand. When first introduced in this country, the hackmen used them for snaffle rings, but by and by the people got to eating them: and it has been a popular custom ever since. The soberer a man is, the fewer pretzels he eats, and conversely.

The market value of the pretzel is 150 for a dollar. They got started at this, and have never varied from it very much. As an article of food it isn't worth quite so much as that; probably not by 150.

After a man has lost all his teeth, it is a hollow mockery, a withering sarcasm, and an ineffaceable stain upon the name of hospitality to offer him a pretzel.—Burlington Hawkeye.

What a Volcano Can Do.

Cotopaxi in 1833 threw its fiery rockets 3,000 feet above its crater, while in 1844 the blazing mass, struggling for an outlet, roared so that its awful voice was heard for more than six hundred miles. In 1797 the crater in Tungurangua, one of the greatest peaks of the Andes, flung out torrents of mud which dammed up the rivers, opened new lakes, and in valleys 1,000 feet wide made deposits 500 feet deep. The stream from Vesuvius, which in 1337 passed through Torre del Greco, contained 22,000 cubic feet of matter, and in 1703, when Torre del Greco was destroyed a second time the mass of lava amounted to 45,000,000 cubic feet.

In 1760 Ætna poured forth a flood which covered eighty-four square miles of surface, and measured nearly 1,000,000 cubic feet. On this occasion the sand and scoria formed the Mounte Rosini, near Nicolosa, a cone of two miles in circumference, and 4,000 feet high. The stream thrown out by Ætna in 1816 was in motion, at the rate of a yard a day, for nine months after the eruption; and it is on record that the lava of the same mountain, after a terrible eruption, was not thoroughly cool and consolidated for ten years after the event.

In the eruption of Vesuvius, A. D. '79, the scoria and ashes vomited forth far exceeds the entire bulk of the mountain; while in 1660 Ætna disgorged twenty times its own mass: Vesuvius has sent its ashes as far as Constantinople, Syria and Egypt; it hurled stones eight pounds in weight to Pompeii, a distance of six miles, while similar masses were tossed 2000 feet above the summit. Cotopaxi has projected a block of 100 cubic yards in volume a distance of nine miles; and Sumwaba, in 1815, during the most terrible eruption on record, sent its ashes as far as Java, three hundred miles away.

A Gentle Hint.

When Nevada Jones was out here to nominate Hayes for the presidency—that was not precisely his object but it was the net result of his labors—he said to the writer at Jake Aug's: "We are called a rough, rude-spoken people. On the contrary, we are a poetic people. Poets are mountain born,' and simile pours as naturally into our speech as milk flows into the throats of infancy. For instance, a mountain, wooded on the sides and bare on the peak, is called timber land. Hence a bald headed man is 'a timber-land son of a seacock.' Crude poultry, as you see. I will give you an illustration of our polished manners. My uncle, the colonel and myself were seated at a game of poker with a one-eyed man. We all noticed, when it came the turn of the latter to deal, that the cards were not mingled with that impartiality which contributes to an even distribution of the favors of the blind goddess Fortune. Presently my uncle said: 'Let's liquor.' The forbidden fluid was brought. 'Now, gentlemen,' said my uncle, 'let's have a new deck.' The new pack of cards was brought. 'Now, gentlemen,' he continued, looking at the gentleman with the single organ of vision, 'I like a square game of draw as well as any man in Nevada, and I hope none of you will regard it as personal when I say: 'Let's all agree that the first son of a seacock we catch cheating with this deck of cards we'll put out his other eye.'"

Medical.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations are without. Hence, to cure the disease the Cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just principles. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of imposters, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

Striking Miners.

CUMBERLAND, Md., August 4.—The new Central company, having notified the county authorities yesterday that the county would be held responsible for future trouble at their mines, the sheriff went to Lonaconing this morning and swore in a posse of twenty men, mostly strikers, and placed them on duty. The official of the George's Creek coal company had a conference with their old miners to-day on the subject of resumption, but nothing definite was reached. A number of persons, including several women, for whom warrants were issued by the new Central company yesterday, charged with unlawful assembly and threatening the police at Lonaconing on Wednesday, appeared here to-day and gave bail in the sum of one hundred dollars each for the October term of court. The ejectment cases of the Maryland company against a number of their striking tenants were tried here to-day and the decision reserved until to-morrow. All is quiet in the mining region to-day.

A Victory for the Apache Indians.

TUCSON, A. T., August 3.—The prefect of the District of Montezuma has sent the following to Governor Oritz. On the 24th ult., the Apaches attacked Colonel Lorenzo Torres Eucino, eighteen miles from here, who was accompanied by a number of federal troops. The fight lasted three hours, resulting in the death of Vicciente Provincio, the deputator of the district, and all the troops except five of the federals and Colonel Torres who was wounded. The Indians took all of the horses, equipage and stores. They were strongly fortified and completely ambushed the troops. A force of troops has been sent in pursuit of the Apaches who are moving towards the Arizona border.

The Cumberland Miners.

CUMBERLAND, Md., August 3.—The situation in this region to-day is decidedly threatening. A large number of miners from the Elk garden region went to Lonaconing last night, threatening to kill the police who are guarding the new Central coal company's property. It is reported that the police realizing the situation left. The new Central company this morning issued warrants for a number of the leaders, who will be arrested and brought here for trial this morning. So far no violence has occurred. It is reported that the company has applied for military protection.

A Miscreant Arrested.

LANCASTER, Pa., August 4.—Edward Wagner, one of the men implicated in the assault on the girl, Lizzie M'Claren, on Saturday night, was arrested last night and held in $2,000 bail for a hearing. The condition of the girl is much improved, and her complete recovery is expected.

Ex-Governor Curtin Not Ill.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Owing to a report that he was seriously ill, Representative Curtin, of Pennsylvania, has been in the receipt of numerous telegrams from anxious friends. The report is entirely without foundation. Governor Curtin states that he is enjoying better health than he has enjoyed for the past ten years.

Refused Admittance.

PROVIDENCE, R. R., August 3.—W. A. T. Smith, a colored clergyman, made persistent application for accommodation at the Adams house this afternoon and was refused and driven out because of his color. He has employed counsel to prosecute the landlord under the civil rights law.

Ohio Prohibitionists.

COLUMBUS, O., August 3.—The Ohio prohibition convention to-day nominated a state ticket headed by Ferdinand Schumacher for secretary of state.

Latest from Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, August 3—3.30 p. m.—All British troops have been ordered to the front. An attack is expected.

SUEZ, August 3.—This town is occupied by the British, and the telegraph office has been reopened.

ALEXANDRIA, August 3.—Last evening and to-day an alarm was caused by rumors of impending massacres of Christians. Patrols have been ordered to increase their vigilance, and the police to confiscate sticks from natives.

News from Cairo to the 30th ult. states that seventeen Pashas are imprisoned in the citadel, among the number being Alisherif Pasha, arrested because he employed Greeks to guard his house.

LONDON, August 6.—The official report of Admiral Seymour concerning the encounter with the enemy of the reconnoissance party at Mapalla Junction, on Saturday, is as follows: Our force consisted of two hundred men of the naval brigade, one forty pounder and two nine pound guns, under Captain Proher, a thousand marines under Colonel Tuslon, half a battallion of the Thirty-eighth and Forty-sixth regiments, and all of the Sixtieth regiment. We had a skirmish with the enemy, who were two thousand strong, with six guns and six rockets, from 5:30 until 7.30 in the evening. The total casualties to the naval brigade and marines are two killed and twenty-two wounded.

Great Rain Storm.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., August 6.—This place was visited this afternoon by a terrific rain storm, four inches of rain falling in an hour and a-half. The belt of the storm only extended about four miles. The water backed in the streets, entering stores and private houses while there are very few cellars in town that are not flooded. About twenty feet of the Cumberland Valley railroad about half a mile from here was washed away. It was discovered in time to prevent two sections of an excursion train with 1,100 passengers on board from running into it. There are also several washouts on the Western Maryland railroad but the work of repairing damage is going on and it is thought travel can be resumed in the morning. Falling spring has overflowed its banks entirely, cutting off the northern portion of the town. The water is backed up on the streets on both sides half a square from the spring, and persons living in the vicinity have been compelled to vacate their houses. Both the Conococheague creek and the spring are rising, and at 11 o'clock it is impossible to tell the extent of the damage. It is thought it will reach at least $5,000, and perhaps a great deal more.

Congress to Adjourn.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—All the annual appropriations have now obtained final passage in both houses of congress and it is generally expected that the session will end to-morrow evening. The only element of uncertainty in the present outlook arises from the declared intention of republican senators to make an effort to pass the bill for the reduction of internal taxation just in the shape in which it came from the house of representatives without any amendments, either in regard to internal taxes or reduction tariff duties. The democratic members of the senate have however, declared their firm confidence that this bill as framed in the house is not truly a measure of relief for the people, and they will not consent to its passage without unlimited opportunity for debate and amendment. It is well understood also that there no prospect of securing a quorum of representatives to act upon the amendments if any changes be made in the bill during the suggested prolongation of this session, and in view of this unpromising situation there seems to be a strong probability that the general expectation of a final adjournment to-morrow will be realized.

Determined to Resign.

DUBLIN, August 6.—According to telegrams received to-night from every part of Ireland the constabulary are determined to have their grievances remedied or else they will resign. Mr. Clifford had the Limerick men parade yesterday and upbraided them for their conduct. He said that if they were soldiers they would be shot. The men replied that they were not soldiers, and denied that they were acting disloyally. They refused to withdraw their circular to the force. The inspector-general had them again paraded and told them they were acting badly, that the government was losing confidence in their loyalty, and that they were playing into the hands of the enemies of the government. He asked them to withdraw their circular and promised that their claims would be represented to the government and certain allowances be made them. The men again refused and threatened to resign within eight days if they did not receive a favorable answer to their memorial. It was intimated that the officers, in consequence of Mr. Clifford's language, would refuse to parade before him again.

Paper Mill Burned.

WILMINGTON, Del., August 4.—An Elkton, Md., special to the Every Evening says a fire broke out this morning in the wood pulp department of the Providence paper mill, owned by the Philadelphia Record, seven miles from Elkton, and destroyed the main building. The machine shop was saved. Loss not ascertained.

Explosion at Haddonfield.

HADDONFIELD, N. J., Aug. 5.—Shortly after 2 o'clock to-day, the town was thrown into a state of great excitment over an explosion of gas at the Haddon House, corner of Maine and Potter streets. The particulars, as far as could be ascertained, are as follows: Mrs. Godschalk, the proprietress, smelling gas escaping in the cellar, took a lighted candle in her hand and proceeded to find out the cause. When she had opened the door leading to the cellar the escaped gas caught from the burning candle, and the explosion followed, burning her in a most horrible manner. She suffered the greatest agonies until about 6 o'clock, when she died. Her sister at the time jumped from the second story window, injuring herself so that her life is also despaired of. The explosion raised the floor of the diningroom about two feet, and totally destroyed the furniture and china ware in the room. Mr. George Welts was blown through a glass door, and also sustained severe injuries. The gas had leaked from the tank, which had been filled a few moments before.

Fighting with Gloves.

NEW YORK, August 6.—In reply to a communication from Mayor Grace in relation to prize fights and as to whether a fight between individuals in pursuance of previous arrangements, such persons fighting in a ring or otherwise, and contending for a prize or award, and under a challenge to fight or with the intention of fighting till one party succumbs from exhaustion or injury, or with a design on the part of either party of placing the other hors du combat within a certain period of time or in a given number of rounds, is a fight with fists, or a prize fight, within the meaning of the law, Corporation Counsel Whitney yesterday transmitted an exhaustive opinion on the subject to his honor. He cities numerous English and American authorities on the subject and says he is of the opinion that a fight of the character described is a prize fight within the meaning of the law.

A Novel Way to Draw a Crowd.

CONCORD, N. C., August 6.—The North Carolinians take the lead for enterprise in political affairs. The latest and most novel illustration of this characteristic is the inducement held out to attract a crowd at a political meeting to be held by the democrats at Poplar Tent, in this county, on to-morrow. The features of the day are two marriages, which are to take place on the ground. The brides-elect are two pretty and handsome young girls of this county and their partners that are to be broad-chested, young, well-to-do farmers. The brides are to be given away by one of the democratic speakers. It is expected that the attractions promised will draw an immense crowd.

Reduction in Freight Charges.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 5.—The general freight agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad announces a reduction on the freight rates from the Missouri River to El Paso, and points on the Southern Pacific Road between Deming and Yuma, of five cents per 100 pounds on the first, second and third classes, of two cents on the fourth class, and three cents on the fifth class, to take effect at once. This is said to be the first step in retaliation for the action of the roads running to Missouri River points, making Council Bluffs and Kansas City rates the same as the Omaha rates.

Independents for Congress.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 4.—Colonel C. B. Cash, who was tried last year for killing Colonel Shannon in a duel, announces himself as an independent candidate for congress in the Fifth district. Ex-Judge T. J. Mackey, who was a prominent republican during the administrations of Governors Scott and Moses, who became a democrat in 1876, has severed his connection with the democratic party and also announces himself as an independent candidate for congress in the Fifth district.

Heavy Rain Storm.

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio, August 4.—An unprecedented rain storm last night produced a sudden and mighty flood in the Narrow valley between Pendville and Corning. The water literally swept everything before it, the railroad track, cars, houses, barns, fences and live stock being born along together. The wires are prostrated and the railroad track is so damaged as to preclude all communication. The details are not yet known, and the loss of life is feared. The loss is variously estimated at from $100,000 to $200,000.

The Queen's Sceptre.

LONDON, August 4.—The solicitors of Thomas Walsh, who was arrested in connection with the discovery of arms at Clerkenwell recently, intend to apply for a postponement of his trial until the October sessions, owing to a certain determination of the crown to call as a witness the Mill street reformer Connell, who will prove the existence of a secret organization in Ireland having for its immediate object the deposition of the Queen.

Storms at Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 4.—A heavy snow storm, with hail, yesterday destroyed the house of Mr. Alfred Sawtelle, in Snowflake township, near Felson. Sawtelle was crushed to death and his wife dangerously hurt, but his child escaped. Heavy oak timbers were tossed about like straws. The storm then went around in the direction of Duluth.

Hangings.

FERNANDINA, Fla., August 4.—Merrick Jackson, colored, was hanged here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He murdered a colored boy named John Thomas, near King's Ferry, on November 19, 1881. On the scaffold he offered up a prayer and thanked the Sisters of Charity for their kindness to him.

MOBILE, Ala., August 4.—Armand Callman, colored, was hanged today at West Point, Miss., for the murder of Georgia Bright, May 13, 1880.

Yellow Fever Abating.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, August 4.—The yellow fever which has been epidemic at Matamoras, Mexico, just across the river, is abating and the cases are yielding readily to treatment. Strict quarantine is maintained all along the lower Rio Grande against Mexican ports. It is believed that the worst is over.

Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—The senate to-day, among others confirmed the nominations of William Waldorf Astor, of New York, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Italy; and Harrison Allen, of Pennsylvania, to be United States marshal for the territory of Dakota.

Seriously Injured.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., August 4.—Christian, Corcoran, of Weathersby, a Lehigh valley brakeman, had both feet smashed by the cars at Bethlehem to-day. Both were amputated but he cannot survive his injuries.

Neighborhood News.

We reprint from that excellent journal, the Altoona Tribune, the following items of news relating to affairs in adjoining counties:

Wagner, the murderer of Shuman Miller, of Millerstown, has not been captured yet.

John Wetsell, of Carrolltown, is 96 years old and claims to be the oldest man in Cambria county.

A constitutional amendment prohibitory amendment club is to be organized in every township in Huntingdon county.

A kind-hearted Middletown man puts a sunshade over the head of his horse when he goes out to drive in sultry weather.

A convention of the Dunkard Sunday schools of western Pennsylvania will be held in Johnstown on October 10 and 11.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson, of Alexandria, Huntingdon county, is 80 years old and has lived her entire lifetime in the immediate vicinity of her birthplace.

Mrs. Michael Breon, of Orbisonia, is apparently entitled to the belt. The other day she presented her husband with an heir who weighed over eighteen pounds at birth.

W. W. Jamison, of Juniata county, while on a visit to Illinois in April last, trod on a nail which infflicted a wound on his foot from the effects of which he died a few days ago.

An incendiary fired an unoccupied building in Somerset belonging to Hon. A. H. Coffroth on Friday morning of last week. It was discovered in time to save the building and prevent a big fire.

During the thunder storm which passed over New Bloomfield, Perry county, a few days ago, a black oak, near the town, was struck by lightning and splintered from top to roots, some of the pieces being thrown fifty yards from the tree.

Dogs are playing havoc among Huntingdon chickens. One man lost fifteen and another seven a few days ago. One good chicken is worth four hundred thousand million ordinary dogs, but lots of people keep dogs who can not afford to keep chickens.

Bedford county has a rattle-snake charmer in the person of one J. J. Whitehead, who captures and carries about with him these deadly reptiles without any apparent danger to himself.

They have some witty women over in Somerset county, as the following from the Democrat of that place will show: As a party of gentlemen and ladies were climbing to the top of the court house tower, one hot day last week, a gentleman remarked, "This is rather a spiral flight of steps." To which a lady rejoined, "Yes, perspiral," and she wiped her brow as she spoke.

—A well established business is difficult to obtain, and it usually requires long years of labor to bring an enterprise to that point where it may be considered perfectly reliable. This is well illustrated in the long line of business failures which are reported annually. The grocery business of Sechler & Co. commends itself to the public because it has the advantage of long continuance and the absolute confidence of all. There is scarcely a man, woman or child in this county who has not heard of this famous store, and about all have visited it and given it their careful examination and approval. In cleanness and neatness it has few equals and no superiors. Our friends who have not yet commenced the practice of trading at this store would greatly benefit themselves by beginning to do so immediately.

—The Y. M. C. A. reports for July as follows: visitors to reading rooms during month 547, books taken from library 51, attendance at the various meetings 250. Owing to the rain on the 4th our boys were disappointed in the proposed picnic, but about fifty partook freely of sandwiches, cake and lemonade provided by our citizens, at the rooms. One social for young men was held at which twenty were present. Through the kindness of Mr. J. D. Mateer the Association is the custodian of Appleton's cyclopedia.

—All kinds of groceries at low prices can be procured at the model grocery of Harry Teats & Co.

—Here is some printer's poetry, which strikes a key note. We commend it to the careful perusal of all our patrons who are in arrears: Know ye the printer's hour of peace? Know ye an hour more fraught with joy than ever felt the Maid of Greece when kissed by Venus, amorous boy? 'Tis not when news of solemn note his columns all with sadness fill; nor yet when brother printers quote the effusion of his blunt worn quill. But, O, 'tis when the weather's fair, or clad in rain, or hail, or vapor, he hears the welcome sound, "I've come to pay you for your paper!"

Columbia House, Philadelphia.

Columbia House, Philadelphia—North Broad Street—between Arch and Cherry streets, is located in one of the pleasantest and most elegible portions of the city, being very central and within easy access of the various railroad depots.

It is directly opposite the Academy of Fine Arts, adjoins the National Surgical Institution—and is within a half block of the Masonic Temple. The new City Hall and the Pennsylvania Railway Passenger Depot are within three minutes walk of the house. The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Depot is also only three squares, and the academy of music and other leading places of amusement about equi distant.

Lutheran, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian churches are in the immediate vicinity. The house was kept until recently by Mr. Joel Hutton, who was well known to many Bellefonters visiting the city, as a genial and popular host.

His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hutton, (nee Bible,) a native of Centre county, has succeeded him, and is carrying on the business, assisted by a competent manager. The house is cosy and home-like, and one of the cleanest in the state. The fare is excellent and the charges are very moderate. We know whereof we speak, because we have stopped there. We would say to the people of Centre county and vicinity, when you visit Philadelphia stop there by all means, for you will feel perfectly at home, be treated kindly and politely, be served with the best the market affords, and lodged well for a very moderate price.

Lewis Cassidy's Young Man.

The Democratic candidate for Governor was a law student in Lewis C. Cassidy's office less than ten years ago. Among his fellow students in the same office and under the same preceptor were James Gay Gordon, Wm. H. Harrity and James Kennedy. Harrity is chairman of the Democratic City Committee in Philadelphia and as such is running his committee in the interest of Cassidy for United States Senator. Messrs. Gordon and Kennedy are already State Senators who are so wedded to Cassidy's interest that they will bolt the causus in the event of any other candidate than Cassidy receiving the caucus nomination for Senator.

In order to promote the interest of Cassidy for Senator, Randall for President in 1884 and Pattison for Governor, a conference is held almost daily at Mr. Cassidy's law office at which the participants are Bill McMullen, Sam Josephs, Cassidy, Pattison, Harrity, Jordan and Kennedy.

—Preserving sugars—just the kind every good housewife wants—can be purchased of Sechler & Co.

—Mrs. Victoria Clafflin Woodhull, the irrepressible candidate for President of the United States, still longs for that proud position and will do her best to get it in 1884. She has a pretty face and plenty of capital to enforce her claim. She promises to pay the expenses of all delegates to her convention. We can safely affirm, however, that Victoria will never be the chief executive of our country; neither will any customer be found who can justly find fault with the grocery of Sechler & Co., or with the meat market of the same firm. Both are conducted on a plan of unusual excellence. The meat market is well supplied with choice meats that are calculated to please and satisfy all purchasers. Visit Sechler's store for edibles of all kinds and you will be the gainer thereby.

At the Sea Shore.

Ashbury Park, "the next door neighbor to Ocean Grove," is coming into prominence just now from the fact that the next Govenor of Pennsylvania favored it with his presence on Sunday. The boardwalk, which extends the whole distance along both Ashbury Park and Ocean Grove, is, next to the bathing, the great institution of the place. On Saturday evening the gallant General promenaded along this walk, of which a correspondent gives the following pen-picture: "Accompanied by a lady, the distinguished candidate moved along on crutches, stopping every few moments to shake hands and chat with groups of influential Methodist brethren from different parts of the Keystone State." Socially, as well as otherwise, our townsman's cause is prospering.

—The Pennsylvania Company are now building all their passenger coaches one foot narrower than the ordinary pattern, reducing the width by making the alley narrower. The object is to make the car lighter, and to lessen the resistence. The pattern adopted reduces the weight 5 per cent. and the resistance fully 10 per cent., yet the coach is just as convenient and rides easier than the ordinary wide coach.

Philipsburg Mining Notes.

The strike among the miners of this region is now positively closed, and the mines are again running on the usual terms. There are quite a number of the old hands out of employment, in consequence of their place having been taken up by other hands imported here from all parts during the strike. Those hands are now fast leaving again, and gradually the old hands will be able to get on to fill their vacancies. The men that were brought here were all inexperienced hands—some of them not having ever seen a coal mine. The game of importation has been a costly one to the mine owners, but the object designed has been accomplished—the breaking up of strike. The best and most practicable miners are leaving the region, and others will follow as soon as circumstances will permit. They admit they are defeated but by no means disgraced. The issue of the strike was a principle, viz.: the settling of all questions by Conciliation or Arbitration, and it is to be regretted that the mine owners should act so foolishly as to refuse so reasonable and fair a method of settling differences. Fears are entertained that in course of time the struggle will be renewed more vigorously than ever, and the manner in which the men are now treated on their return to work is too bad. They are forced to deny themselves the right of organizing, and are deprived of the privilege, hitherto granted them, of having a check-weighman to see that they are justly treated at the scales. Would it not be wise for the operators to bear in mind that "oppression makes a wise man mad?" The men, although the majority of them have returned to work, are extremely dissatisfied. The leaders have been "victimized."

—Mr. Reformer McKee is coming out as quite a strong writer. He tells Dr. S. F. Lytle, of our neighboring town of Philipsburg, who has just been flaying him with the point of a keen pen, that he is an "assinine nincompoop and mountebank." He further styles the Republican party the Grant-Arthur-Conkling-Guiteau-Cameron-Judas Iscariot-Benedict Arnold-Wilkes Booth party." Truly our Independent friends are marching under powerful leaders.

Death of Mrs. William Mallory.

We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. William Mallory, a resident of Penn street, which sad event occurred on Saturday, July 20th, about 9 p. m She had long been a sufferer of the dread scourge, consumption, and is at last numbered among its victims. She was prepared for death and met its approach in a spirit of calm resignation and Christian firmness. She leaves a husband and one child. The funeral services took place Monday afternoon, July 31, at 2o'clock.

—The pure, fresh, wholesome groceries at the store of Harry Teats & Co. are the best to be found in this place. Try them and you will be satisfied.

—Thursday night at 8 o'clock Edwin Dale, aged 24 years, a son of George Dale, of College township, died of typhoid fever. He was a graduate of State College of the class which graduated last June. He had just fitted himself for a useful life when death claimed him as its victim, to blight a young life and destroy the cherished hopes of friends. We deeply sympathize with them in their loss.

—"A man at Des Moines had to pay $800 for kissing his hired girl." We had thought of getting a "hired girl," but that settles it—no $800 kisses in ours—Philipsburg Journal.

That's true, friend Bair; it's better to kiss a girl you don't hire. In fact $800 is higher than any printer can venture for a single kiss. It is really the highest kiss we ever heard of.

M. M. Hilliard's Great Menagerie and Circus.

"Wait for the wagon"—or, in other words, save your "dollars of the daddies" for the coming of the above-named confederation of animals and artists, which will mass its multitude of amusement marvels at Bellefonte, on Saturday, August 12. And mark well that it is not one of those latter-day railroad mushroom menagerie and circus frauds, which use the locomotive as a means of suddenly dropping upon unwarned communities from long distances, and then make a two or three hundred mile jump in a night in order to escape the swindling odor they leave behind; but on the contrary, a solid, honest road show; bringing Savage Nature in all the most majestic illustrations of her living lessons directly to your doors, and added thereto a far greater and purer circus than you were ever decoyed into visiting at some distant point, through the costliness and discomfort of "cheap excursion trains." It comes among the people as it ought to, and does not ask them to undertake tedious, expensive and dangerous journeys to go to it; and it comes in the good old-fashioned and only genuine caravan, menagerie and circus way, and the only way in which a really great show of the kind can be successfully moved and managed. It purposely marches so that its reputation may precede it, and what that reputation is, is sufficiently indicated by the enthusiastic voice of the press and the public all along the line, and by the patronage and hearty approval of the leaders of thought and morality. Remember the date of exhibition, and be on hand in time to see the grand free street parade in the morning.

—A very enjoyable part of the services in the Episcopal church on Sunday, both morning and evening, was the rendition of a beautiful solo by Mrs. John H. Knowles, who is now visiting in town, the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Teller. Her clear, pure contralto voice was displayed to the best advantage and was delightful to hear. There is no means so effective in elevating the thoughts of the listening multitude to heavenly things as music well rendered.

—It is altogether probable that the attendance at the picnic of the Juniata Valley Printers' Association, on the first of September, will be limited, as the executive committee met at McVeytown on Friday, when the the time for receiving applications expired, and it was found that at least one-third of the offices in the Association failed to send in their applications for tickets and consequently will be left out in the cold.

—Go to Harry Green's headquarters in the drug store if you would obtain the most excellent cigar to be purchased in this vicinity.

—A novel effect of the arrival and departure of trains at the depot here is to frighten the pigs of Col. Geo. Bayard and Mr. Jno. Anderson so terribly that they refuse to eat. The gentlemen say that unless the noise is stopped the animals will be for sale.

—It is no use for the Lewistown Gazette to advise the girls not to make fools of themselves while the soldiers are there, for how can they resist when the captain with his whiskers takes a sly glance at them.

—W. L. Malin, our telegraph operator, and Orr Hoover, our efficient express agent, have about as much business as they can do, and stick closer to it than any two men we know of.

—It is said that the prospects for a good tobacco crop this year are not very flattering.

EMPLOYMENT FOR LADIES.—The Queen City Suspender Company, of Cincinnati, are now manufacturing and introducing their new Stocking Supporters for Ladies and Children, and their unequaled Skirt Suspenders for ladies. None should be without them; our leading physicians recommend them, and are loud in their praise. These goods are manufactured by ladies who have made the wants of ladies and children a study, and they ask us to refer them to some reliable and energetic lady to introduce them in this county, and we certainly think that an earnest solicitation in every household would meet with a ready response, and that a determined woman could make a handsome salary and have the exclusive agency for this county. We advise some lady who is in need of employment to send to the company her name and address, and mention this paper. Address Queen City Suspender Company, 179 Main st., Cincinnati, O. 27-5t

Signal service news: It was at the breakfast table. Mrs. Yerger who was reading the Austin morning paper, said: "In St. Louis a first rate meal was cooked by electricity." "So the meal was well cooked by lightning? That's more than I can get in this house, by thunder!" retorted Colonel Yerger. Mrs. Yerger's eyes flashed and there was a cloud upon her brow. Colonel Yerger thought he was going to catch hail, but it blew over.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water and, as its name indicates, is a perfect Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which sulphur, sugar of lead, and nitrate of silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggists for it. Each bottle is warranted. Smith, Kline & Co., Wholesale Agents, Philadelphia, and C. N. Crittenton, New York. 14 24 1y

THE LATEST NEWS.

Extensive Fire.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The extensive flour mills of Hecker & Co., Nos. 205 to 265 Cherry street, were burned this morning. Five hundred men who were employed in the building ran for their lives, and it is believed all escaped, but the flames spread with such alarming rapidity that there may have been some lives lost.

The Express says: On what floor the flames started and how they began cannot at present be ascertained. The immense building was soon a mass of flames that rose a distance of one hundred feet above the roof. The heat was so intense that people dwelling in tenement houses across the street were obliged to fly for their lives, leaving all their household effects behind. The unfortunate occupants deserted their houses none too soon, for the flames shot to the opposite side of Cherry street and in less time than it takes to write the conflagration had wrapped at least fifteen houses in the flames, extending from No. 194 up to Pike street and continuing for several houses beyond that thoroughfare. While flames were burning with terrific fury at the flour mills the walls fell killing two firemen. At the same time it became known that four of the factory hands had perished in the flames. It was currently reported at the same time that a number of those residing in tenement houses across the street had been unable to escape and were among the dead. As far as could be ascertained the total loss by the fire will be $1,000,000, and possibly much more. George V. Hecker owns the flour mills. He said the stock and machinery therein was valued at about $400,000. The buildings themselves were valued at $200,000, and all are totally destroyed. The stables are damaged to the extent of $10,000. He said further that the insurance would probably cover their losses.

LATER.—The loss at the Cherry street fire will aggregate $1,250,000, the insurance being about $400,000.

Rivers and Harbors.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The general expectation that the president would to-day send to the house of representatives a message announcing his decision and embodying his views upon the river and harbor bill has not been realized. Both the president and his cabinet continue to withhold all information on the subject, and it is not even known with certainty whether or not a course of action has been decided upon. The prevailing opinion, however, to-night is that the bill will be approved and that the president will send a message to the house to-morrow giving formal notice of his approval, but expressing his intention to exercise the discretionary executive authority in directing expenditure of the money appropriated. It is thought that the only reason why this message did not go to the house to day was that its phrazeology had not been definitely settled.

A Water Spout.

MILLERSBURG, Ohio, July 31.—A water spout and sudden flood occurred in this vicinity to-day sweeping away a great many bridges and some buildings, and drowning a number of head of live stock on the bottom lands. A stream called Sap's run rapidly over-flowed hundreds of acres, carrying off and destroying hay and other harvested crops. Houses in various places were wholly or partly submerged and their occupants narrowly escaped by hurrying to the highlands. It is feared that some persons have been lost. Railway travel in this section is obstructed by the washing away of culverts and bridges. Rain fell in torrents and is still falling, threatening further destruction.

No Decision.

CUMBERLAND, Md, July 31.—The striking miners held a largely attended meeting at Frostburg to-day. Delegates from all mines were present. Only three companies, however, were represented. The subject of how much concession should be made to the companies was discussed but nothing definite was arrived at. They will meet again in a day or two. The new Central company is pushing the work of erecting barracks for new laborers near Lonaconing. The ejectment cases of the Maryland company against the striking tenants have been postponed till Friday next.

Denies the Soft Impeachment.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Doorkeeper Brownlow, of the house of representatives, has received a letter from Colonel Popham denying the truth of the published reports reflecting upon his integrity and character and charging him with having committed various illegal acts. He says he will start for Washington in a day or two and concludes his letter by tendering his resignation as superintendent of the folding room of the house of representatives.

The Police Will Interfere.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The board of police to-day resolved to take every precaution to prevent the glove fight on the 14th proximo between Tug Wilson and John Sullivan in Madison Square garden. The board has been notified by the corporation counsel that it has the power to interfere and prevent such exhibitions.

Egyptian Advices.

ALEXANDRIA, July 31.—Midshipman Dechair, of the ironclad Alexandria, was sent to Ramleh on Saturday morning with a message and has not since been heard from. It would seem that he has strayed beyond the lines and been taken prisoner.

An unfounded report prevails that the garrison of Aboukir has surrendered to the British.

Six Murdirs of Upper Egypt have been ordered to supply five hundred horses and six hundred and fifty camels to the force of Arabi Pasha.

BERLIN, August 1.—The refusal of Italy to co-operate with England in putting down Arabi Pasha may be taken as representing the attitude of Germany and Austria. High authorities at Berlin assert that Russia is about to quit her passive attitude in favor of one directly hostile to British pretensions in Egypt.

LONDON, August 1.—The Times, in a leading article, says: "The time has gone by when Turkey could be allowed to take the whole matter into her own hands. If Turkey goes to Egypt she must not go as the ally but as a subordinate of England."

A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says: According to intelligence received from diplomatic sources the action of Russia is due to the personal initiative of the Czar Alexander, who is dissatisfied with the independent attitude of England and with Mr. Gladstone's delaration that England, under certain circumstances, would undertake the task of restoring order in Egypt.

An Alexandria dispatch to the Times says: The state of the town is causing serious disquietude. The natives who remain are incendiaries, and a majority of those who have returned are looters looking after their concealed plunder. It is impossible to mistake the bitterly hostile attitude of this class and of the native police.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 2.—Russia has consented that Onou should renew attendance at the conference only when the porte announced its readiness to send Turkish troops to Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, August 2.—Marines from the Inconstant, Defense and Invincible landed at Gabari and were conveyed by train to Fort Mess, which they occupied.

A scare took place last evening. There is a clump of trees on Sweetwater canal, about the center of the British line of outposts, which was guarded by a company of the Sixtieth rifles. The men were only posted there last evening, and were cautioned by Major General Alison as to the necessity of maintaining absolute steadiness, and were ordered in the event of an attack in force to fall back in order on the barricaded houses by the side of the canal. These instructions were apparently understood and the general left satisfied. About 2 o'clock in the morning the enemy suddenly appeared on the left of our outpost with infantry and cavalry. They had approached very rapidly and unobserved, and before our men had time to check their advance they charged a clump of trees at great pace. The Rifles fired a single volley and then broke and ran along the bank of the canal. The outlook would seem to have been very defective, and worse still the retreating troops neglected all orders concerning the rallying point, and never stopped until they had reached the fortified water works on the hill, about a mile distant. Four of them even ran till they reached camp. They spread all sorts, of ridiculous rumors, such as they had lost all their comrades, had last seen Major Ward surrounded by the enemy, and similar nonsense. A company instantly moved forward to the bank of the canal. The enemy had apparently not followed the fugitives, but had taken the rifles they had thrown away in their flight and secured their reserve of ammunition.

Forest Fires.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—An East Tawas, Mich., special says that the rain has extinguished most of the fires. Three in the west side of Tawas lake and north of Wilbur started again on Sunday afternoon, burning with great violence. They were confined, however, to the black pine timber and cedar, but two farmers being burned out since the last report. J. Smith, on the East Tawas road, lost his house, barn and crops. Mr. Wright, on the Hemlock road, lost his house, fences and crops.

Heavy Failure.

PHILADELPHIA, August 1.—John Hilgert's Sons,' sugar refiners, 141 South Front street, have failed. Charles M. Hilgert, who has been conducting the business, cannot be found and it is impossible to tell how the liabilities compare with assets. Mortgages amounting to over $100,000 were recently foreclosed, precipitating the failure. The Philadelphia bank is said to be one of the principal creditors, but its officers decline to give information to the public.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—The debt statement shows a decrease during July of $13,860,027; cash in the treasury, $241,096,031; gold certificates, $5,017,940; silver certificates, $67,119,210; certificates of deposit, $12,730,000; refunding certificates, $3,452,750; legal tenders, $346,681,016; fractional currency, $7,046,466.

McKeesport Strike.

PITTSBURGH, August 2—The National tube works, of McKeesport, Pa., resumed operation with non-union men this morning. All of the departments are running short-handed.

The President's Veto.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—The president sent a message to the house to-day vetoing the river and harbor bill. In the message he gives the following among other reasons for his disapproval:

"My principal objection to the bill is that it contains appropriation for purposes, not for common defense or general welfare, and which do not promote commerce among the states. These provisions on the contrary are evenly for the benefit of the particular localities in which it is proposed to make the improvements. I regard such appropriations of the public money as beyond the powers given by the constitution to congress and the president. I feel the more bound to withhold my signature from the bill because of the peculiar evils which manifestly result from this infraction of the constitution. Appropriations of this nature to be devoted purely to local objects tend to an increase in number and in amount. As the citizens of one state find that the money so raised, which they in common with the whole country are taxed, is to be expended for local improvements in another state, they demand similar benefits for themselves, and it is not unnatural that they they should seek to indemnify themselves for such use of the public funds by securing appropriations for similar improvements in their own neighborhood. Thus as the bill becomes more objectionable it secures more support."

Railroad Disaster.

CHICAGO, August 2.—The latest details from the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern collision, at South Bend, places the loss to the company at over $150,000, and say it may reach $200,000. It seems the accident was wholly due to the incompetency and gross carelessness of the employes of the company. Both trains were at full speed without the assurance of a clear track and in the midst of a dense fog when the collision occurred. The half-dozen or more bodies which were burned in the wreck are not yet recovered, and there is great delay to business. The engines are demolished and the entire mass of cars and valuable merchandise destroyed.

A Bold Highwayman.

BAR HARBOR, Maine, August 2.—As Messrs. John and Isaac W. Howe, of Boston, were coming down Green mountain this afternoon on a buck board with a party of ladies the team was stopped by an armed highwayman, and the Howes were forced to give up their gold watches and money, the total value being thirteen or fourteen hundred dollars. The robber was armed with a brace of large pistols. A large party has started in pursuit of the miscreant, and a reward of $1,000 is offered for his capture dead or alive.

An Old Negro Dead.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 31.—James Generals, one of the oldest colored men in this city, was found dead in a livery stable this morning. He recently received a severe blow upon his head by an unknown man and that, together with excessive drinking, caused his death. He had nearly $200,000 insurance on his life held by various persons in the death-rattle insurance organizations, but he outlived all the companies.

Heavy Rains Extinguish Forest Fires.

CHICAGO, August 2.—A special from East Tawas, Mich., says: "A heavy rain during the past night has put out all the forest fires burning near here except one in the Cross Way on the East Tawas, road, which is still burning. Wild animals have been driven out of the woods by the fire, and three full-grown bears, with six cubs, were seen near town yesterday."

Not Ready to Adjourn.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The house committee on appropriations held a second meeting to-day, at which the Anderson resolution proposing adjournment sine die on Friday next was further discussed. It was finally decided, however, to defer action until the sundry civil bills shall have been passed by the senate.

Heavy Rains.

CINCINNATI, August 1.—A special dispatch reports very heavy rains last night in Kentucky. Both branches of the Licking river at Falmouth are higher than ever known before, and rising three feet an hour. Great damage to crops and bridges is apprehended.

The Veto not Sustained.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The house—yeas, 123; nays, 60—passed the river and harbor bill over the president's veto.

The senate—yeas, 41; nays, 16—passed the river and harbor bill over the veto. So the bill becomes a law

It is said that there is only one thing in the world that is sure, namely—death. We can now add another sure thing—Sines' Syrup of Tar. It's sure to cure a cough or cold.

Mary D. Groves, St Paul, Minn., writes: I have been a sufferer from rheumatism over a year; could not rest at night for pain, and have tried nearly all remedies recommended for rheumatism. Upon recommendation of my druggist, I got a bottle of Dr. Bosenko's Rheumatic cure, and upon two applications, was entirely relieved, and have not been troubled since.

Messrs. Ely Bros., Druggists, Owego, N. I must say that the Balm has met my best expectations, having already effected a number of cures in this locality. I am using it with beneficial effects. Respectfully, P. F. HYAT, M. D., Bordentown, N. J. Oct. 26, 1880.

Having been afflicted with catarrh and cold in the head, I tried a great many remedies without any beneficial effects, at last I used Ely's Cream Balm, which effectually cured me. I consider it a duty I owe suffering humanity to recommend it to others suffering from the same, almost universal, American disease. W. H. I. HILARE, Dentist, Bordentown, N. J. Oct. 25, 1880.

—It is said that instances of longevity are increasing among civilized nations, but it is not often that men attain the age of ninety years and remain as active as Mr. John DeLong, of Sugar Valley. The fact that he called at our office ond day last week brought this circumstance to our notice. The ordinary observer would not suppose that he is over sixty years of age. He is as lithe and free in his movements as many men of twenty.

The End of a Well Spent Life.

Mr. W. D. Bailey, late foreman of the Democrat office, who died Thursday morning, was one of the oldest printers in active service in the county, and a complete master of his trade. He will be seriously missed from our fraternity, for his place will be hard to fill. He had the experience of years, a ripe judgment, the fruit of his fifty years' service. He was steady, faithful and true. Such men are a loss to any community. He acted "well his part" and dying, retires with honor from the stage of active life. The service which he has rendered will leave its impression upon society and the age, and the good he has done will live long after our craftsman and his work has been forgotten. His labors upon the Wellsboro Agitator was a service to freedom and his country, the result of which can never die. Although born in humble station, his life has been a success and is an example that should stimulate others to acts of cheerful duty, remembering that therein all the honor lies, so that at last their neighbors and the world will say, as it must be said of our fellow workmen, "well done, good and faithful servant." Fifty years a printer—from the age of 13 to 63—Fifty years of earnest work in his chosen field of labor. Thus ends a long and useful life. The fitful dream is over; he rests in peace; his memory lives in the hearts of his friends; the good he has done lives forever.

—A very fine boardwalk extends along the railroad near the station at this place, on which those who wait for the trains indulge in pleasant promenades when the weather is fair and which forms an excellent foundation for passengers to alight upon when leaving the cars. This walk unfortunately, is not entirely level, but the planks have sunk at a point not far from the High street crossing in such a manner as to form a great hollow basin in the centre of the walk. This is scarcely noticeable in fair weather, but when such showers of rain descend as those of Tuesday and Wednesday the water collects in the basin and forms anything but a delightful walk. It is too wide to jump over even if such an athletic feat were possible in a crowd. People do not have time to divest themselves of their shoes and stockings even if it were sufficiently shallow to wade. Neither do they come provided with bathing suits and it would be useless to erect a building for dressing purposes in the vicinity. The only alternative seems to be to take up the walk at that particular spot and relay it, and we humbly suggest this measure to our wealthy railroad friends.

Farmers Mills Gossip.

FARMERS MILLS, Aug. 1, '82

Long's cave is the centre of attaction. Picnics are held there almost daily. Indeed it is one of the best places for having such in the country; for not only can there here be had social enjoyment and merriment, but also will find much pleasure in beholding the marvelous works of nature.

The post office had been in successful operation for a short time, but now the stage driver has refused to come this way with the mail, saying, that he gets too little to recompense him for his extra trouble. This proceedure has been reported to headquarters, but have not yet learned what action has been taken.

—William Taylor, father of Arthu Taylor, who is employed at the nail works, was instantly killed on Monday, July 31, while flagging a train at the Trout Run station, Lycoming county. Before the unfortunate man could escape he was struck by the train with the above result.

—The August meteors on the 9th, 10th and 11th give variety to the monthly programme of celestial displays, and illustrate the delightful uncertainty of cometic astronomy, for no mortal can prophesy whether a few hundred meteors will be imprisoned in our atmosphere, or whether the annals of the year will record an unusually abundant shower of golden rain.

Our Stormstown Budget.

STORMSTOWN, July 31, 1882.

Death sometimes comes with great suddenness, but its appearance never seemed so quick, sharp and terrible as in the decease of Isaac Bailey, who has been engaged chopping wood on Valentines' job in this vicinity. He with his mother and two brothers came here several weeks ago from Texas, taking up their abode in a log cabin. They all suffered with fever and ague. A few moments after lying down, one night last week, Isaac was heard to moan twice. On examination, he was found to be dead. Dr. Biglow, who examined the remains, is of the opinion that death was caused by a rush of blood to the head. He was buried in Gray's graveyard.

A man went on the premises of W. H. Wike last Thursday and threatened him with a loaded revolver besides perpetrating several other offences. He was promptly arrested by Constable Loner and Deputy D. M. Cowher and bound over in the sum of $500 for his appearance at court.

We notice a mistake in your last week's paper in regard to John Wilson using a car load of phosphate on one field of grain. I think he did not use a car load to three fields. John is, however, the boss farmer of this valley. He has been improving his property very much by the building of hen houses, a tool shop and a wagon shed. The latter is 50x20 feet with a grain house attached. He has also erected a new saw mill. Let a creamery man come along and say "cheese" to John, and he will take him out to his new steam saw mill and saw his head right off close to his ears.

PUX.

—"Prospect," a correspondent of the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, writes a letter from Bellefonte to that paper, by far the larger part of which is devoted to a description of the works of the Bellefonte Iron and Nail Company. As a description of Bellefonte it is very imperfect. Its reference to the Bush House and its gentlemanly proprietor we most heartily endorse and copy as follows: "The town can boast of some excellent hotels. One of these, the Bush House, is a model resort for travelers or those seeking a charming place to spend a quiet season, where they can receive every comfort and convenience, accompanied with intelligent, courteous attention. The house is conducted by Mr. W. R. Teller, formerly of the Brockerhoff House, who, in addition to being an accomplished landlord, is a well informed, agreeable gentleman. Mr. Teller has the rare faculty of making his guests feel at home without appearing obsequious, or carrying a conspicuous professional air with him in all his movements. The clerks of the house profit well by the example afforded in the proprietor."

Convention Instruction.

The Centre county Sunday School Association will hold its thirteenth annual convention in the Presbyterian church, Centre Hill, on Thursday, August 17th, 1882.

As chairman of the Executive Committee, I am authorized to say—

First—While the three sessions are open to the public, each Sunday school is invited to appoint two delegates, one of them if possible, to be the superintendent.

All preachers in the county are delegates ex-officio, without appointment or special invitatiou. Delegates freely participate in the discussions.

Second—All delegates who desire entertainment or homes during the Convention will forward their names to Rev. W. K. Foster, Centre Hall, not later than seven days previous to the meeting.

Third—Each family attending the forenoon session, expecting to remain for the afternoon, is requested to bring a basket lunch to be taken at the church during the noon recess.

Fourth—Since everything worth anything costs something, each delegate is desired to come prepared to assist in defraying the necessary expenses of the Convention.

Fifth—As "laborers together with God," let us all come "in the unity of the faith," praying specially that all may realize the blessing promised for those who meet "in the name of the Lord."

R. CRITTENDEN.

—"Checkers" is the diversion which monopolizes a large portion of the time of the gentlemen who visit the Garman House office and the harmless mania has extended next door into the sacred precincts of 'Squire Smith's headquarters. Ex-Sheriff Woodring and Mr. Nelson Lucas held the fort at the latter place Tuesday afternoon, while D. G. Bush, Esq., and Rev. Henry Keller played spirited games in the former.

—The best butter from grass is further improved by feeding the cows a little corn meal.

Barn Burned.

The large and commodious barn owned by William Kearns, and the widow of Thomas Kearns, situated about two miles north of Lillyville, in Decatur township, Mifflin county, was burned to the ground on Saturday, July 29. The fire originated on the barn floor among some rakings, and was discovered by the tenant of the place, Daniel Snook, about 11 o'clock, shortly after the family had retired. The entire contents of the barn including fifty tons of hay, about 1,000 bushels of rye and wheat, reaper and mower, threshing machine, and all the farming utensils, except one cultivator, were destroyed. There were three buggies in the barn, one of which was got out, the other two burning. The stock was rescued, although in getting the last animal out it was considerably scorched and Mr. Snook was badly burned, but not seriously. All the adjoining outbuildings, such as the building over the cistern, corn house, with two cribs and floor, buggy shed, with chicken house attached, and large log sheep stable, were also destroyed. Mr. Snook's loss will reach $1,500, upon which there was no insurance. The Kearnses will lose on the crop and buildings about $2,500, of which there is an insurance in the Ætna for $1,700—$1,200 on the barn and $500 on the crop. The barn was large and good, being 45x88 feet. The fire was undoubtedly the work of incendiarism.

—Mr. Edmund Blanchard and the party of distinguished gentlemen who accompanied him have been heard from. They reached Omaha City on the 26th of July, whence they went to Salt Lake City to remain during Sunday, resuming their journey to San Francisco on Monday. They are well prepared for a long trip with abundance of provisions, liquors and cigars—the best in the land—and the cooks understand their business. The impression they make is thus described by the Omaha Republican: The Pennsylvanians are indeed a liberal, whole-souled jolly party, and remind one of the thorough western men—miners, cattle kings of Californians. They have plenty of ducats and know how to enjoy their money. They are entertaining conversationalists and can tell an endless number of interesting stories. They are, withal, refined and elegant gentlemen, and it will do any one good to meet them, as they know how to entertain their guests. Wherever they go they are bound to make friends, and we venture to say that no party of eastern tourists will ever meet with a more cordial reception at the hands of western men than they.

A Missing Man.

Thomas M. Haddock is missing from his home at 50 Spring Garden Avenue, Allegheny, and information regarding him is desired by his friends. He recently canvassed for a "Bank Note and Coin Detector," and when last heard from was about to start from Blairsville to Johnstown. Mr. Haddock is described as weighing about one hundred and sixty pounds, with gray hair and spectacles, wearing, when last seen by his friends, a dark suit. He is 43 years of age. He was formerly connected with the "Pittsburgh and Allegheny City Directory."

Ladies and all sufferers from neuralgia, hysteria, and kindred complaints, will find without a rival Brown's Iron Bitters.

Cuticura
THE NEW BLOOD PURIFIER
Resolvent

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known. The patient is a man forty years old; had suffered fifteen years. His eyes, scalp and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. He did so and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured twelve months.
Reported by
F. H. BROWN, Esq., Barnwell, S. C.

SCROFULA SORE.

Rev. Dr. ——, in detailing his experience with the Cuticura Remedies, said that through Divine Providence one of his parishioners was cured of a scrofulous sore, which was slowly draining away his life, by the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. The poison that had fed the disease was completely driven out.

ECZEMA.

Sixteen months since an eruption broke out on my legs and both feet, which turned out to be Eczema, and caused me great pain and annoyance. I tried various remedies with no good results, until I used the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, which entirely cured me so that my skin is as smooth and natural as ever.

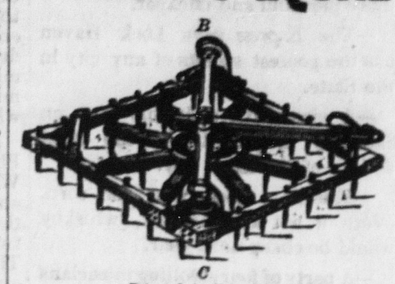
THE PENN HARROW
BEST IN THE WORLD
IT HAS NO EQUAL

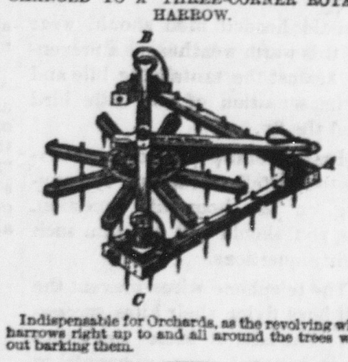


Patented April 13, 1880.

The above cut represents the Penn Harrow complete, with all its combinations of Five Harrows and a sled for each Harrow; and each succeeding change is made from this Harrow without the least additional expense. By hooking the team to either point, B or C, the center revolves and gives the ground Two Strokes and Two Crossings in passing over it once, making it the most effective pulverizer in the market.

THIS HARROW HAS ONLY TO BE USED TO BE APPRECIATED.
See it before purchasing and you will buy no other.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO A THREE-CORNER ROTARY HARROW.

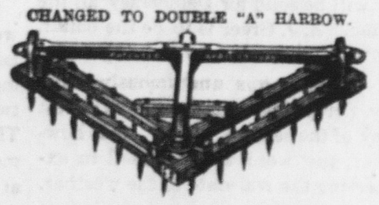


Indispensable for Orchards, as the revolving wheel harrows right up to and all around the trees without barking them.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO SINGLE "A" HARROW.

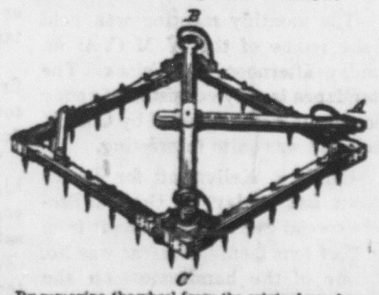
By removing the wing and wheel from the original you have a complete one-horse "A" Harrow.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO DOUBLE "A" HARROW.



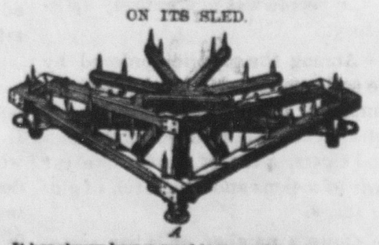
Remove the wheel from the original, reverse the wing, and it makes the most complete Double "A" Harrow in the market.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO A SQUARE HARROW.



By removing the wheel from the original you have a Harrow with three points to hook to. By hooking to B or C you can harrow in a furrow, and harrow the bottom and both sides, or over a ridge and harrow the top and both sides, or you can lift either point and have three points on the ground—something that cannot be done with any other Harrow.

The Penn Harrow
ON ITS SLED.



It has always been a great inconvenience to get the Harrow to and from the field. The Penn Harrow obviates this, as no matter which Harrow you wish to use in the combination, it has its own sled to haul it on.

The Penn Harrow
Is made of the best white oak, with steel teeth, well painted, in every way first-class. Formerly a harrow was the most unhandy implement on the farm; with our improvement it is the most convenient, will do double the work of any other harrow and save the farmer half his labor, and is warranted to do all we represent or money refunded. ORDER AT ONCE AND BE CONVINCED.

Price of the light draft Combination Penn Harrow, $30. Send for a Catalogue and see what farmers say.

Local Department.

—It is said that chestnuts will be plenty this fall.

—Wayne camp meeting opens on the 15th instant.

—Cholera morbus fruit is becoming more plentiful and cheaper.

—The Express says Lock Haven has the poorest streets of any city in the State.

—A circus will visit this town on Saturday, August 12, to the great delight of the small boy.

—This is a nice year for corn. Were it not for the tax, whiskey would be cheap next year.

—A party of four strolling musicians made excellent music on the streets of Bellefonte Monday morning.

—The slang of a "big thing" is going out of style. The girls have improved upon it lately by "having a regular Jumbo time."

—Company B turned out in full ranks Friday afternoon and were conveyed in a special car to Lewistown. They made a handsome appearance.

—Bald headed men should wear wigs this warm weather, as a preventive against the tantalizing bite and tickling sensation of the little bird called the fly.

—Frazier, of the Houtzdale Observer, is too awfully mixed up for anything, on the hoop-skirt question. Girls, you should not ask him such naughty questions.

—The telephone wires prevent the small boys flying their kites successfully. The tails of these playthings are not, however, very ornamental to the aforesaid wires.

—The strike in Philipsburg and Clearfield is virtually at an end. Many of the strikers have found other employment, their places being supplied with new men.

—Persons returning from Bush meeting Sunday evening seemed to be in a very light and cheerful mood and made the air resound with snatches of hymns and songs.

—Altoona is to have a daily Democratic paper, to be called the Times. It will be solid for Democracy all the time. A. J. Greer is to be the editor. It will be issued every evening.

—Sunday was unanimously voted by perspiring mortals the warmest day of the season. "Hot" was, however, the word usually used in expressing the real state of the weather.

—The boats and sculls to be used by the Bellefonte Rowing Association will soon be received. It will not be long 'ere Hanlan will receive a challenge from Bellefonte. Then look out for his defeat.

—The monthly meeting was held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The attendance largely consisted of young people. It was conducted by Chas F. Cook and was quite interesting.

—Col. D. S. Keller left for Lewistown last Friday, in General Beaver's special car, with an escort from Co. B of four men. The car was No. 34, one of the handsomest on the road—a regular "bang up" beauty.

—The Pinkney Bush Meeting, on Sunday, attracted a very large attendance. "Pink" says they realized $11.75 from the undertaking although the impression made on the minds of the people was not entirely satisfactory.

—Among the supplies ordered by the sutler for the National Guard encampment at Lewistown were five hundred bushels of peanuts, fifty thousand cigars, a ton of candy, five car loads of melons and half a ton of ginger snaps.

—Quite a number of ladies, somewhat interested in some of the officers from this place who are in attendance at Lewistown camp, have made arrangements for driving over to the camp to-morrow. They will start from here at about 2 a. m. Thursday morning.

—R. A. Beck, Bellefonte's "crack" musician, treated the visitors on East Linn street to a delightful serenade Thursday night. The sweet and inspiring notes of the clarionette, wafted on the balmy evening air, stirred the hearts of the listeners to frequent and hearty applause.

—A caucus of the north ward Democrats was held at the office of J. L. Spangler; the south ward at D. F. Fortney's, and the west ward at the Watchman office Friday evening. Now if they do not want a Bay state Yankee to run for the legislature they had better heal up their faction fight.

To Soldiers' Orphans.

The second annual reunion of the soldiers' orphans sixteeners, of Pennsylvania, will be held at Harrisburg on the 16th, 17th and 18th of the present month, and a general invitation is extended to all "sixteeners" to attend. A circular letter, issued by the secretary of the organization, closes as follows:

There are over 10,000 "sixteeners" of the various Soldiers' Orphan schools, of Pennsylvania, and our aim is to have all join with us as an association for mutual benefit.

We organized last August, (25th, 26th and 27th), with over 350 members, who all unite in expressing, that those three days were the most enjoyable of their lives. We are endeavoring to acquaint all of our meeting, and urge you to open communication with all "sixteeners" whom you know, on this subject.

Railroad rates over Penn'a R. R., Phila. & Reading R. R., Del. Lac. & Western R. R., Cum. Valley R. R., and all other branch roads under their management and control, at two cents per mile, good for ten days. These rates can only be secured by an order from the "S. O. S. of Pa."

Major S. F. Spicer, 23d and Parrish sts., Philadelphia, has sole control of railroad ticket orders, to whom you are requested to address or apply; he will also give all information pertaining to railroad transportation.

We are hereby responsible for all ticket orders that are issued, and should any send for them and not use them they will return them.

When sending for ticket orders please state over what branch you desire to come.

Hotel rates are greatly reduced and all possible arrangements are being made to make all comfortable.

"Sixteeners" will please let us know of their coming as soon as possible, as it will greatly assist the committee on arrangements in their preparations. Please send the address of all "Sixteeners" you know at once; by so doing you will greatly assist us in our endeavors to communicate with all and also confer a personal favor.

Philipsburg.

PHILIPSBURG, Aug. 2, 1882.

Pleasant rains, and a consequent lower condition of the thermometer on this side of the hill.

Huckleberries are scarce. The crop seems to be of a ninimum.

The very extensive wheat crop of Rush township is about all harvested.

All the old coal miners who could get work are back in their places. Business is therefore about as active as ever in these parts.

Gideon Goodfellow, one of the old natives of Clearfield, died there yesterday.

J. C. Spencer, a merchant at Curwensville, had his safe blown open last Saturday night. The enterprising burglars, they say, got some twelve dollars for all their trouble. The industry of mankind should be more amply rewarded. A merchant at Osceola, named Hirsch, had his safe opened in the same way two or three nights ago. In this latter instance of forethought and good management the burglars got about $30.

There are serious indications—that is to say, indellible marks—of another wedding in town at no very distant day.

Dr. Hale and Cal. Gerberich, of the firm of Duncan, Hale & Co., were in town last Monday. Likewise Mr. John Rankin, of Bellefonte, to-day.

Philipsburg water stock has sold as high as 125. It is being bought up eagerly by capitalists who desire a safe and remunerative investment.

Alton Steiner has purchased the interest of his father, J. F. Steiner, in the Huntingdon planing mills whither he departed some days ago.

O. P. Soms, of the Philipsburg Banking Co., has traded his present residence for the big brick mansion in south Centre street formerly owned by the heirs of the R. C. Hale estate. DAN DEQUILLE.

—The funeral services at Williamsport over the remains of the late W. D. Bailey, who was interred in Wildwood cemetery in that city, were deeply impressive. The remains were received at the depot by a few friends of the deceased, the following gentlemen—all printers—acting as pall bearers: J. Galbraith, S. S. Hetherlin, A. B. Tate, James Clark, James Sheffler, A. L. Hartman, and James Heller. All the friends who assembled at the depot followed the remains in conveyances to the beautiful city of the dead, located about two miles from Williamsport. At the grave Rev. John Hewitt read a few sentences in a solemn and impressive manner, closing with the benediction. The family of the deceased are sincerely grateful to their friends in the city of Williamsport and also in this place for these numerous acts of kindness in the hour of their great affliction.

—Editor Hooker, of the Troy Gazette, says that "the sale of post-office boxes to the public is a fraud without decent apology." There is a large class of people who consider Editor Hooker about right.

Death of William Devoe Bailey.

Thursday morning at 4 o'clock the soul of the late William Devoe Bailey burst from its earthly tenement and winged its way to an eternal home. For more than a year disease had preyed upon his body and the final escape of his spirit brought peace—let us hope, happiness.

He was born on Silver Springs farm, Cumberland county on the 14th of January, 1818, making his age 63 years, 6 months and 20 days. At the age of 13 years he was apprenticed to the printer's trade under Theophilus Fenn, of Harrisburg, afterwards State printer. He spent seven years under Mr. Fenn's instruction. In 1840 he went as far west as Iowa and started a paper called the Sentinel in Iowa City. Coming East again in 1843 he purchased an interest in the Circleville Herald, at Circleville, Pa., and that journal was for some time conducted by Thrall & Bailey. In 1849 he went to Wellsboro, Tioga county, and started the Wellsboro Advertiser, now the Agitator, one of the most prominent Republican papers of that section. His partner was M. H. Cobb, now an official in the U. S. mint in Philadelphia. After living there fifteen years, he removed to Williamsport, where he was foreman of the Gazette and Bulletin office for eight years. He removed to this place several years ago, since which time his life has been well and we can truthfully say, favorably known to our citizens. He leaves a wife and four children living—two preceded him to the tomb. Funeral services were held at his late residence, on Lewistown turnpike, Friday morning at half past eight o'clock. The remains were taken to Williamsport at 10 a. m. for interment in Wildwood cemetery.

—The citizens of Clearfield county on Saturday witnessed an unusual spectacle at Duboise in that county, namely, a bull fight modeled after Spain's favorite amusement, with a few alterations. The fight was a most desperate one and before the grand finale was reached many of the most tender-hearted of the spectators became disgusted and went home. With the exception that the active participants wore no gaudy uniforms and that pitchforks were used instead of the customary lance by the picadores the fight was the exact imitation of the Spanish one and would have delighted the most exacting Spaniard. John Dubois furnished the cattle. The bulls were first turned out in an open field at the outskirts of the town, where they were assailed by several horsemen with pitchforks. The footmen were not so successful in diverting the attention of the bulls as their Spanish brethren are, as one of the riders was knocked off his horse and badly gored. Bleeding and unrecognizable, he was dragged out of the ring by some of his fellow fighters in time to save him from being torn to pieces by the mad bull. "Fred," who has already participated in nine engagements, was the winner, and almost telescoped his antagonist. The fight lasted twenty-four minutes. Considerable money changed hands. Two thousand persons, including people from all parts of Clearfield county and adjacent country, were present. The great majority are well pleased with the sport, and are arranging for another contest, to come off in a week.

Soldiers in Camp.

The Altoona Tribune, of Monday, contains a letter from the encampment of the National Guard of Pennsylvania at Lewistown from which we extract as follows:

Nothing in particular was done by the Fifth Saturday morning except the filling of chaff ticks which the boys had provided themselves with before leaving home. Four men were assigned to each tent and two ticks just filled the floor, making a very easy couch. For many of the boys it was their first experience in camp life, and no doubt some missed the comforts of home and the necessaries always to be had in a town or city; but still the novelty of bivouacing in the wood was an enchanting one.

The scarcity of water is a source of some discomfort just now, the man who contracted to supply that necessary article having failed to do so.

The inspection of the Eighteenth regiment, which took place Saturday afternoon, was witnessed by a large number of spectators, and was creditable to the troops.

Quite a number of the men were overcome by the heat and were compelled to drop out of the ranks. They were properly taken care of by some ladies and the surgeons.

Battalion drill of the Fifth regiment took place Saturday afternoon. The heat was intense and several men were compelled to withdraw, but were soon all right again. The regiment made a good showing, notwithstanding this disadvantage.

—Miss Puella Dornblazer, a lady extensively known in Clinton and Centre counties, is spending a short time at Chautauqua Lake, N. Y.

The Pinkney Bush Meeting.

BELLEFONTE, Aug. 4, 1882.

The Bush Meeting held in Valentines' woods on Saturday was not under the auspices of the A. M. E. church, but was held exclusively under the direction of Moses and Wm. Pinkney, who are not members of the A. M. E. church. The pastor and members of the church may favor the citizens with a woods-meeting during this month, but as J. M. Palmer has been ill from malaria for some time no definite arrangements have been made. As the purpose of the Pinkney meeting has not been made known, the A. M. E. pastor takes it for granted that the gentlemen are holding the meeting for their benefit. The Rev. Palmer wishes the public to be informed that they are not members in regular standing in any church, and is determined if the public is humbuged or imposed upon in any way St. Paul's A. M. E. chapel will not be responsible or to blame. Moses Pinkney was expelled from the A. M. E. Quarterly Conference nearly two years ago for rebellious conduct. Wm. Pinkney severed his relation near four months ago for the public good.

J. M. PALMER.

[We insert the above communication from Rev. Palmer, although we must say to that reverend gentlemen that it seems almost unnecessary, as no one associated the bush meeting with the A. M. E. church here. It seems to us that both parties should be permitted to conduct their religious services in the way they please, so long as they comport themselves in an upright, orderly manner. The Pinkneys are good enough in their own way and the A. M. E. congregation have the respect of the community.—ED.]

—Miss Annie Rowland, of Media, Pa., and Mr. Charles Miles, a wealthy California gentleman, were to have been married on Wednesday in the M. E. church of that place, brilliant preparations having been made for the event; but owing to a serious accident to the bride the place of holding the ceremony was changed to the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Frank Rowland, the lady being unable to rise from her bed at the time. The sad accident which resulted so disastrously to Miss Rowland occurred on Sunday evening when the expectant bride and groom were driving from the residence of William T. Davis, of Newtown. The horse stumbled, breaking a shaft and one of the lines. The animal being beyond control, ran rapidly until the vehicle dashed into a wood pile, throwing Miss Rowland and Mr. Miles out, the former being very seriously injured. She is expected to recover, although it will be a long time before she will be able to depart to her new home in California.

—The funeral of W. D. Bailey, late foreman of the Democrat office, was held at the house of deceased Friday morning at nine o'clock. Rev. John Hewitt officiated. Several guests are now making the residence of our popular citizen, D. G. Bush, Esq., their temporary home. Among them is Mrs. L. G. Green, of Spring Garden street, Philadelphia. This lady is quite an accomplished artist and has produced many beautiful effects with her brush and pencil. Another is Miss Amanda Tome, who has been in Bellefonte several weeks. Mrs. Dr. Malin, the wife of a celebrated homœpathic physician, residing on Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, completes the brilliant trio. Their hospitable hosts will doubtless render their visit very pleasant.

Returned after Seventeen Years.

For seventeen years—since the close of the great Rebellion—it was thought that Samuel Miller, at one time a resident of Pleasant Gap, was dead; or at least, nothing had been heard from him during that period. Therefore, when his brother, Sidney Miller, who still resides at Pleasant Gap, came home from work on Monday of last week and found Samuel (twice as large as life and much more natural) sitting quietly in the house, we may imagine his surprise. When asked to give an account of his long absence he declined until he had helped himself generously from the well spread table. Then he explained that the past seventeen years had been spent roving from place to place, but that it was his intention to spend the remainder of his days in Centre county. The wanderer's return was a genuine surprise to his many relatives and friends.

Death of an Aged Lady.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Mrs. Riley, a resident of Boalsburg, and relict of the late Daniel Riley, which occurred Saturday morning. Her disease was consumption. She was much esteemed by those who knew her. She leaves a large family of sons and daughters, among whom may be mentioned Mrs. Sarah Rankin, of Boalsburg; Mrs. Irvin, of Oak Hall; Mrs. Everhart, of Tyrone; Mr. Thomas Riley and Mr. Calvin Riley. Her death was the end of a long period of illness which at her anvanced age—almost eighty years—she was unable to endure. Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Going to Philipsburg.

Next week Prof. S. T. Stephenson, of this city, will go to Philipsburg and open a writing school. Mr. Stephenson is a resident of this city, where his abilities as a penman are well known. He has closed a successful term here, and will occupy his spare time from now until September with another class. Mr. Stephenson is a graduate of the Central State Normal School, and of Eastman's Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and therefore well qualified for the duties in hand, as his work will show. We commend him to the people of Philipsburg as a reputable, competent and active young man.—Lock Haven Journal.

—Numerous small worms have recently been found in the water which flows from the hydrants in certain portions of the town. Where they come from we do not pretend to state, but it is thought that the difficulty is in the reservoir. The borough authorities should give it their attention.
